

Large crowds of youngsters have been attending the "Crusaders" nights every Friday at Newmarket town hall. Under the leadership of Rev. A. R. Yielding who started the "Crusader" nights, the youngsters see magic, movies, play games, hear lectures on safety. Mr. Yielding decided to start the non-denominational nights to "teach youngsters decent living and to do something about the delinquency problem". PILOT UNINJURED IN CRASH LANDING NORTH EAST OF KING

A light plane, a Fleet Canuk monoplane, crash landed and turned over a hundred yards from the Barrie Highway, three miles north east of King Tuesday night. The pilot, Allan McDougall, 26, Toronto, crawled from the aircraft uninjured.

First police reports a half hour before dark indicated that there had been a crash. With no further information at first, it was thought that the accident might have been more serious. Two jets crashed in the same area last year, killing both pilots.

The pilot had rented the plane from Levens Brothers Air Service, Barker Airport. He was on a cross-country flight when the craft ran out of gas. The plane came to rest a few yards from a clump of trees. The pilot had landed in a plowed field. It appeared that the craft flipped over when it struck a hollow in the soft ground. Only damage was a broken propeller.

Wants Newmarket York County Seat After Amalgamation

Newmarket would be a county town with the York County seat established here if the wishes of Deputy-Reeve Walter Saunders of York township were followed. The establishment of the county seat here, would depend on amalgamation proceedings.

According to a report Wednesday, Deputy-Reeve Saunders may make the proposal in county council this week. The proposal would be related to the decision of the Ontario Municipal board in dealing with amalgamation of the 12 suburban municipalities with the city of Toronto.

Toronto's suburbs from the southern half of the county. New boundaries would be required in the event of amalgamation. County Commissioner Reeve John Rye, East Gwillimbury, said that Newmarket would be the logical choice for a new county seat in the event of amalgamation. The present county building, constructed within the last ten years, is on Adelaide St., Toronto.

York County council now represents 28 rural and suburban municipalities contributing an estimated 70 percent of the annual budget levy. Amalgamation proceedings have been at a standstill for the past two years. At one point, the Ontario premier said that proceedings would have to be completed by January, 1951. A large number of northern municipalities opposed the proposed scheme for amalgamation two years ago.

HISTORIC MILL NEAR MT. ALBERT DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire swept through the Hammett mill early last Friday evening and levelled the four-storey, 100-year-old structure in less than an hour.

The mill was hand-hewed from oak and pine from the district and was a well-known landmark. It stood beside a mill pond but several years ago the water power mill was taken out and a diesel engine installed.

The mill was owned by James Hammett, whose father purchased it 35 years ago. Four men were employed. Hammett said the building was only partially insured and the fire had taken most of his life's savings. "I guess I'll have to work for someone else," he said.

Four fire brigades from Mount Albert, Newmarket, Unionville and Markham were called to the fire but could do little but keep the blaze from spreading.

The fire was discovered by Donald Hill, an employee, who was working late. He said he smelled smoke and when he looked into the rear portion of the building, he found it in flames.

Included in the loss was $15,000 in grain and $15,000 worth of machinery. Hammett estimated the building to be worth $50,000.

OPTIMISTS HOSTS TO BALL TEAM

Last Tuesday evening the Newmarket Optimist club entertained their Optimist hardball team, the Ontario minor baseball finalists, at dinner at the King George hotel.

During the program, Donnie Thoms and Don Lewis put on a hard fought race, by pushing a peanut along the floor with their noses. Unfortunately Donnie Thoms lost and the Optimist members on his side of the table were forced to pay a fine.

Optimist Bill Austin challenged Don Warner to the same race. After a few headlocks and elbow jabs, Bill Austin was victorious.

Jeff Smith, who has just returned to the club after his lengthy illness, was the lucky winner in the draw, winning a slightly used pumpkin face.

Sgt.-at-Arms Rod Ecobichon and program chairman Frank Dawson kept the meeting rolling in high gear with original stunts.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Yielding, minister of the Gospel Tabernacle. He spoke to the boys and Optimist members on the subject "You Never Know What You Are Up Against." Mr. Yielding also assisted boys' work chairman Ken Stephens in presenting the ball players with their finalists crests.

WANT U.N. RADIO AN HOUR EARLIER

A recommendation regarding the radio program, "United Nations Today" has been forwarded from the Newmarket Home and School association to the C.B.C.

The resolution called for a request to the C.B.C. that serious consideration be given to advancing the hour for the presentation of the program, "U.N. Today". The topic, introduced by Horace Jacques called attention to the fact that the program is now aired at 11.15 on week-nights. It was suggested that a greater number of people would be able to listen to the program if it were presented following the 10 o'clock news bulletin. Mrs. Harry Beer seconded the motion which was unanimously carried.

Service Held For Popular Citizen, Andrew J. Davis

The funeral held for Andrew J. Davis, former mayor of Newmarket, keen sports enthusiast and supporter of famed hockey teams of the past and vice president of the Davis Leather Company until a few years ago, was attended by a large number of people at Trinity United church Monday. He died early last Friday morning in hospital at Toronto. Andy Davis was a well known business executive and a popular figure in the sports world. The service was conducted by Rev. Henry Cotton and Rev. M. J. Aiken.

Andy Davis was born at Kinghorn April 18, 1885, the son of the late Hon. E. J. Davis and Margaret Johnston Davis. He was educated at the public school at Kinghorn, Aurora high school and Central Business college.

He came to Newmarket with the Davis family in 1904 when the Davis tannery industry was moved from Kinghorn to Newmarket, to become the largest tannery in the British Empire. He married Audrey Ramsay Campbell in 1907. She predeceased him.

Surviving are three sons, Kenneth A. Aubrey J. Ghent L. and a daughter, Margaret Jean Jay. His brother, Aubrey Davis, also a well-known figure in the community, predeceased him on March 5, 1951. He was always ready to give financial assistance to any sports cause in Newmarket. His favorites were

School Accident Fund Approved, Pays For Injury On Property

An accident fund will be put into force in the Newmarket Public schools following the receipt of premiums on Friday, Nov. 14. The decision was reached at a meeting of the public board of trustees last night as a result of the favorable response of parents to the suggestion.

A letter was sent to parents and guardians of children in attendance at the public schools. Larry Bell said that 653 from a total enrolment of 888 had signed for the accident insurance.

That would give approximately $325 in the account for the 1952-53 school term, he said. The accident fund will cover such expenses as doctor, dentist, hospital or x-ray expenses incurred as a result of an accident on school property on regular school days. Each child is required to pay 50 cents a year to participate in the scheme.

The insurance will take effect immediately upon the receipt of premiums. Parents and guardians who want their children included in the accident fund are requested by the board to send 50 cents for each child to the teacher of his class on Friday, Nov. 14. All collections will be made on this one day. A record of those contributing to the fund will be kept and an official receipt issued.

Larry Bell will supervise the organization of the plan. It will be administered by the board with the treasurer, Bruce Hunter, handling the funds. "With the support and co-operation of the parents, especially during this first year, the fund should be very successful," said Mr. Bell. Any balance in the account at the close of the term would carry over for future years.

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

We have been aware of the work Rev. A. R. Yielding has been doing with Newmarket children at the town hall every Friday night. Letters to the editor received last week pointed out that in our news coverage we have been overlooking the activities in the hall and one writer urged us to "peek in" some evening.

We "peeked in" last Friday night and found a large gathering of children watching a film about dogs. Some of the youngsters were in Halloween costume and they all seemed to be enjoying themselves.

Mr. Yielding presents a lively program which holds the interest of children. The programs have included such items as magician's tricks, films, lessons about safety and games.

"We don't try to sermonize or preach to them," says Mr. Yielding. "We have children representing all denominations." And there are plenty of them. Over 500 attended recently and the attendance has reached such numbers at times that children are packed on top of the radiators and two on a chair, a jammed full house.

With all this good fun, Mr. Yielding tries to remind the youngsters "that they are Christians and that they should behave like good Christians." The meetings always close with a prayer.

Mr. Yielding's organization of these young "Crusaders," as they are called, represents a great service to the community. "It's not just an effort to build up a particular church but rather a self sacrificing effort to get young boys and girls into a place of decent conviction where there will be no room for the nonsense that you see around our street corners every day and night," says the minister.

He is accomplishing what he has set out to do and his efforts deserve much credit.

Concerned, our Sports Editor told us that the Optimist club of Newmarket, for the past three years sponsors of bantam and midget-age sports activities in town, are finding it difficult to scrape up funds for ice time and other hockey expenses.

The club's boys' work program has looked after this particular age group and it would be a shame to lose the sponsorship because of lack of funds, George tells us. "It just can't happen," he says.

Ice time at the arena is expensive and it takes a large amount of cash to keep a league going on that valuable artificial ice. While we cannot do much about the Optimists' funds, we can at least give them a verbal boost. "Optimist Week" is coming up and maybe someone will come along with some good ideas.

We are not too familiar with the costs but maybe it would be cheaper for the Optimists to flood their own outdoor rink for at least some of the league games in town. There should be plenty of kids to shovel the snow off the ice each week and to do the flooding and other odd jobs.

Cleaning windows was one of the first things the storekeepers had to do on Tuesday morning. Very few escaped the soap markings.

Boys and girls of various ages roamed the streets in the early evening in varying costumes, with and without masks, and some representing ghosts having themselves clothed with white sheets. Considering it was Halloween, they behaved admirably. A few articles that were left lying around were misplaced but so far as we have learned no damage was done to property.

THURSDAY, THE SIXTH DAY OF NOVEMBER, NINETEEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY-TWO

CONTROLLED ACCESS ROADS

The recent hearings on the application of the department of highways to close some roads in King township brought to light conditions which the provincial government should do well to examine. Farmers on either side of the new No. 400 Highway are facing great hardship by not being able to cross the new road except on existing cloverleaf intersections and underpasses. They cannot cross the road itself since it would defeat the very purpose of a controlled access highway.

At the same time, the department is trying to keep to the minimum the number of over-bridges necessary, since it would increase costs for which we all would have to pay. Admittedly these roads are a necessity and they have to be built somewhere. Neither can they always be built on land which is not inhabited. But residents along the new Barrie road will undoubtedly reap some benefits and in the long run these will outweigh the disadvantages. Their land will increase in value and their municipality will have increased assets. They will be able to use this all weather highway for their own long distance travel.

The government would do well to point out these factors and publicize the thinking behind the building of these new controlled access highways. These new roads are the lifelines of progress and their building should be a source of pride and receive approval for a job well done. Sufficient education and publicity could make it that. The lack of it will hinder it, will end in bitter squabble and slow down development.

IS SANTA COMING?

Commercialism has crept into mother's day, father's day, St. Valentine's day and every "day" of observance and into every festive occasion of the season. Christmas is the season when commercialism hits its peak. With that, it is recalled that Newmarket has had a Santa Claus parade every year.

It is a matter of opinion whether our annual Santa Claus parade is just another trick to boost business. It may be argued at length. Some merchants claim that in spite of bringing hundreds or thousands to the Main Street for the parade, it does not add to the season's sales. People are really more interested in the parade than shopping on the parade day and when the parade is over, everyone goes home, not into the stores, merchants say.

The general feeling has been this, "Well the kids get a big kick out of it anyway". That may be enough to justify the Santa Claus parade. Maybe it is not fair to call it commercialism after all.

In previous years the parade has been arranged by various reluctant organizations, often at the last minute. If there is to be a parade, it is not too early to start arrangements now. But there is no chamber of commerce, board of trade or formal organization including all the merchants and if there were one, it might refuse the responsibility. Who will organize the parade this year?

FOLLOW ONE U.S. EXAMPLE

Eugene Griffin's series of articles in the Chicago Tribune on Canada would make the average Canadian "boil". Griffin is the Tribune's correspondent in Ottawa and in a recent article, he wrote, "Canada is largely an offshoot of the United States." He added that Americans settled large areas of this country, have provided its real military security and have supported it economically.

Since the end of the war there has been a growing feeling of nationalism in Canada. Canadians are throwing out their chests since the dollar rose in value a few cents above the American dollar. Canadians felt that they had a culture after the Massey report was given. There has been a growing resistance against the "evil" influence of the United States on our national culture and national opinion. The C.B.C. would even compel private radio stations to employ at least 40 percent Canadian talent in broadcasts. With the growing feeling of nationalism there is a growing national complex about U.S. influence.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

But there was one example in the U.S. this week Canadians could follow. The voting in the presidential election was an impressive record. The large percentage of U.S. voters who cast their ballots shows how Americans can "do things up in a big way". Americans seem to take a greater interest in politics than Canadians although their means of political expression and extroversion is sometimes distasteful to Canadians.

Just this once, we could welcome American influence on Canadians to stir up interest in politics on every level. With municipal elections forthcoming, we might follow the U.S. example to "get out and vote" and be sure to make the franchise count.

PATRIOTISM BY NUMBERS

(Fort Erie Times Review)

According to CBC reasoning, Canadians living in cities of 50,000 population or greater are a good deal less Canadian in outlook and feeling than their smaller-town brethren. CBC even has it down to percentages — 10 percent less patriotic.

Such is the rather ridiculous conclusion to be drawn from the government broadcasting system's proposal to compel private radio stations in the larger cities to broadcast 40 percent Canadian material, with the requirement dropping to 30 percent in the smaller communities.

But the most ridiculous — in fact, dangerous — thing of all is that a government agency should start telling the public the exact proportion of Canadian radio programs required to keep them up to scratch, patriotically speaking. Next thing will be an order requiring everyone to reach a reading target of so much Canadiana per annum — or else! Nor would this, in fact, be any more dictatorial than the radio proposal.

TOO MUCH ON CREDIT?

Are we buying too much on credit? asks the Financial Post.

Following the lifting of credit restrictions last spring there was a natural rush of buying by those who wanted to finance such durables as new cars, furniture and appliances.

Consumer credit soared, but tapered off around summer on car sales. Other credit items continue to climb but by the end of 1952, it would seem likely that the over-all rate of increase will begin to flatten out — despite big television credit sales in some parts of the country.

But where does all this lead? To trouble? Probably for some, but for the economy as a whole here are a couple of considerations which make the outlook much less ominous than some have been fearing.

1. Canadians generally are still in a relatively good liquid asset position despite their buying on credit. Savings deposits, for example, are up 6% over last year. Other personal savings, like life insurance are up too.

2. We believe that when the figures are available it will be shown that the total amount of money available for spending has grown even more than the gain in savings, life insurance, etc.

The facts are that in 1950, personal savings were at a low figure of 6.5% of disposable income (i.e. money available for spending after income taxes). In 1951 we "saved" a great deal, about 12%. For 1952 it looks as if our savings may be running half way between the 6.5% and 12% figures.

On the whole, it seems that today's higher retail sales are riding on larger incomes more than on dreams for tomorrow. Some individuals with their credit buying are doubtless digging pits into which they will some day fall. Perhaps the same applies to some retailers. But over-all, today's credit sales volume need not be regarded as alarming.

Actually losses on retail credit are phenomenally low. Losses to U.S. stores with annual credit sales in the $5-10 million bracket were last year eight-hundredths of one percent for charge accounts and 22-hundredths of one percent for installment accounts.

Office Cat Reports Catnips By Ginger

Somebody pushed over Slim Bliggins' piano box shack Halloween night.

The little home of our own natural born primitive artist, down by the railway tracks, was pushed over by a gang of unknown ruffians.

"They even desecrated my turnip patch," Slim moaned. "Pulled up to a dozen of 'em and strew 'em on the front lawn."

"It's sure a pity," I said. "Wonder who could have done it?"

"I've got suspicions it was the work of Thimbleberry township hoodlums."

"Wanton destruction," I said.

"I suppose they are," said Slim. "Can't think of anything else they'd want."

"Why not paint a picture of it? Try your hand at the modernism and put in oils your impressions of a pillaged home and desecrated turnip patch," I said.

"Yer right. I'll put a real message into it. It will be put into a meaningful statement on canvass, by Bliggins," Slim snorted.

The result, Slim's first modern, was a knockout. It looked like a sheet William the printer would have run through 20 times to clean his press after a four color job.

"This here reddish hue in the background here represents lust," Slim dramatically pointed out the following day, "Evil lust for destruction. Chaos! Here is a broken step, there a twisted door handle, here a mangled 'I' beam and, of course, turnips is omnipresent all around."

"What's that great big eye doing in the middle of the picture?" I asked.

"That there eye means a singular conscience, or morals. You see there ain't nothin' done that ain't in the presence of a conscious conscience. This comes from deep in the artist, good an' deep."

Has that got something to do with introspection?" I asked.

"I don't know. That's what us artists don't know and there is a torn scroll, a busted record and here is a derby hat and walking stick hanging, untouched on a hall tree," said Slim.

"What's that signify?"

"That there signifies the dignity of man is retained through the ugly mess. I feel it is one of my best works," Slim summed it up.

"What are you going to call it, Hallowe'en or Pranksters' Evidence?"

"Neither. I'll call it Dignity. It has got nothin' to do with Hallowe'en after all. This thing's bigger'n Hallowe'en, I've decided," Slim said and left.

I wonder if the general run of artists get their inspirations like that?

The Top Six Inches by "Dairy Farmer"

First of all, let us point out that the Toronto metropolitan area has increased the last few years tremendously and we doubt if the milk shed has increased as well. In other words, the same distributors today are covering a much larger number of people than they have previously.

Granted, some of the suburban dairies got some of the business as well, but basically there are more people to sell to. Secondly, other food items decreased in price and today the customer's food dollar is going somewhat further than it did say a year ago. We believe that this resulted from a decreasing pressure on milk and we think fewer people are saying that milk is too expensive.

Another factor to consider is that the milk business has had a rather peaceful time lately, with not much publicity of any kind and to disturb the present conditions wouldn't do anybody any good. These are some of the factors on the selling end which suggest that we should stand firm.

How about the producing side of it? Well, we aren't exactly on the top of the world to the extent that we should give up hard earned income. Our revenue has been seriously affected by the beef slump. One only has to send a cow to market to see how true this is.

The embargo also hurt us badly, keeping our surplus stock at home. We grant you, some of these will be milked, thus increasing the supply. But we also believe that the production per cow will be lower at the same time. Commercial feeds being what they are, we think more home grown feed will be fed and less concentrate and in the long run the increase in cow population will not mean a very large increase in milk shipped to market.

Neither did our general overhead and cost decrease. Machinery isn't down in price, neither are taxes, or feed or labor.

Let us try to remember these things while going to annual meetings. We may be in a relatively favorable position to some parts of agriculture but we certainly are not better off than we used to be. The time of the year is slowly approaching for the annual meetings and while some of these meetings may not affect all of us, undoubtedly some will concern the very business with which we make our living. Foremost among these is the milk producers' annual meeting. We have a few thoughts on the subject which we would like to mention at this time.

First of all, we have to admit that for the time being at least, the dairy farmer, or rather the farmer producing for the fluid milk market in this area is in a somewhat more favorable position than other farmers, whose main business is pork or beef production.

We all have to admit, that this is a change from the way it has been, and we also have to admit that it might well be just very temporary. While for the last few years the beef producer or commercial feeder of beef and pork couldn't do anything wrong, the dairy farmer kept facing increasing costs and increasing difficulties.

Today the shoe is shifted to the other foot a little bit. Consequently it is quite possible that some pressure will be put on us in the next few months urging us to give up voluntarily some of the advantages.

This pressure may come from the distributors and even more likely from our own timid leadership, not so much in our own districts, but from the central of the Toronto milk producers.

We believe that we should hold firm to our present contract and make it quite clear at the annual meeting that we will not consider accepting any less for our milk than the present price. Now you may think that it is foolish to talk about this. Nobody is asking us to do so, but we can assure you that they will consider less unless it is made abundantly clear to all parties concerned that we will not be scared and that we know what we are doing by standing firm.

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Coleville

COOKING SCHOOL

There is nothing more closely related to a woman's common round than cooking, three meals a day 365 days of a year, with an occasional break. It is the big part of a housewife's problem.

As a woman said to me, "We are never too old to find some new tricks," and we were all eyes and ears and noses when Miss Marion Wight of the W.I. branch, department of agriculture opened our Bogartown W.I. cooking school at the home of Mrs. Don McCullough.

The cheerful, well equipped kitchen presented an animated scene as 30 women assembled there to see, hear and digest whatever Miss Wight set before us. A funny little incident gave us a good laugh at the beginning.
Something had been put on to cook but alas, it was found to be not cooking.

Was the power off? Lights were turned on, devoted helpers got down to peer into the white stove, all to no avail. Then Mrs.
McCullough appeared and asked casually, "Did you turn it on?"
It was a case of everyone leaving it for someone else to do.

To me, cooking is the redeeming feature of housework. It is the adventurous part for there are so many new things to discover about it. Like all adventures, it can hold disaster as well as rewarding delights.

Miss Wight's steady stream of talk in no way detracted from her busy hands. There are one or two things I would like to share with the readers of this column, first the tarts she made the first day. This pastry was made of part wheat and part pastry flour. I was dubious about the results but without foundation.

This is what is done: in the bottom of the tart shells spread a blend of cream cheese with a tiny bit of cream. Fill with fruit and melt jelly over boiling water and spoon over fruit. Good!

Then there were beef loaf cups.
Here's the recipe: half cup dry bread crumbs; half cup milk;
three quarters lb. ground beef;
one egg slightly beaten; two tbsp. onion, diced; half tsp. salt;
pinch of pepper; quarter tsp.
sage. You bake these in tart shells, hollowing out the centre.

Into these pour a sauce pequante of three tsp. brown sugar, four tsp. chili sauce, quarter
tsp. nutmeg, one tsp. dry mustard.

There was also a dessert which I tried last night and it was good too, baked custard with caramel sauce. Sprinkle a third of a cup
B. sugar on bottom of casserole, scald two cups milk and stir slowly into three eggs slightly beaten. Add one eighth of a tsp. salt and half tsp. vanilla, strain and pour over brown sugar; do not stir. Bake in oven at 350 degrees until knife comes out clean.

Miss Wight was most emphatic about using a minimum amount of water in cooking vegetables and potatoes should be eaten baked or boiled in their jackets.
If boiled let water be only about one and a half inches in pot and closely covered. Salads, said Miss Wight, should never be too finely cut and in potato salad mashed potatoes should never be used. In fact, Miss Wight seemed ready to wager a real war against mashed potatoes; all the good is gone out of them she declared indignantly.

These are only a few of the many things we were told. The first day she did not serve much so Mrs. McCullough and Mrs.
Doug McClure served afternoon
tea. On the second day we sampled everything and found it all enjoyable. Thanks were extended to Miss Wight, Mrs. McCullough and Mrs. G. Smith, who assisted and everyone went home plus a recipe book, plus ideas and feeling that two afternoons had added to our knowledge and enjoyment of cooking.

Sold On Grassland Farming

These cows and calves seem contented with their feed on this grassland farm.

Are many farmers slaves to an out-of-date type of farming? True, they have adopted some improved practices, often used better seed, applied more fertilizer and adopted improved machinery, but are their minds open to the evolution in farming that is going on in the present age?

Some farms have been entirely turned into grasslands, spoken of by one writer as "Grasslands all the way," by another as "giving up our old corn philosophy," and by some others, the real extremists or cultists, as "organic farming".

There is no such thing as being "oversold" on real grassland farming any more than on any well-balanced, profitable farm program involving soil building, erosion control, efficient crop production and a well-planned dairy and livestock program because these are just what is meant by "grassland farming". None of them can be attained as economically and efficiently without resorting to the large-scale use of grasslands.

Grassland farming does not mean that every acre on the farm be turned into grasslands to the exclusion of inter-tilled row crops. It does not mean that grasslands alone will supply all the mineral elements to maintain soils at the highest degree of fertility. It does not mean that to maintain profitable livestock production, all feed nutrients consumed by livestock must come from grasslands.

True, it has been shown that profitable livestock maintenance and large production of meat and dairy products can be attained by going "all the way" with grasslands. This does not mean that in a majority of cases this is the most profitable procedure.

Grasslands have advantages in a farm program that cannot be obtained in any other way, and each one of these should be given full consideration.

1. High quality pasture and harvested forage provide the lowest cost feed available for livestock production.
2. As much as 80 to 90 percent of feed for dairy cattle can be derived profitably from high quality pasture, hay and grass silage.
3. Grasslands will supply large quantities of nitrogen and all the organic matter for good soil tilth and high crop yields.

4. Grasses and legumes maintained in permanent well-fertilized pastures reduce erosion to the minimum. Soil losses under such treatment are almost negligible.
5. Run-down neglected farms can often be restored to their original fertility and productivity through a well-planned grassland program involving high fertilization and use of improved grasses and legumes.
6. Through intelligent use of grasses and legumes tilled crops can be produced on the contour and ground cover maintained over a large part of the year with the least possible loss of soil or fertility through erosion or soil exposure to the elements.

As we study the problems involved in a balanced grassland farming program and learn how to produce and utilize high-quality nutritious forage, the foundation will be laid for a more prosperous agriculture.

GRASSLAND FARMING MEANS

1. Keeping as much of the farm in grassland as can be made profitable.
2. Supplying a major part of livestock feed from grassland.
3. Keeping the land covered most of the year with crops to reduce erosion and add organic matter.
4. Higher yields from inter-tilled crops in the rotation.
5. Most economical production of milk, beef, mutton, wool, pork and eggs.

"A very valuable citizen"

When a bank manager was transferred recently a group of citizens wrote the bank in tribute to his sense of public service:

"During the time he was here, we found him to be a very valuable citizen. He always took a deep interest in our community, so we feel we have lost a valuable asset. However, we feel sure that his replacement will be made with a man of similar calibre."

A bank man, by the very nature of his work, becomes part of the life around him. During his training in various branches, and as he takes on growing responsibilities, he learns more and more about people and how his bank can help them. And he brings to his community his personal readiness to serve in any way he can.

Mayor Proclaims Optimist Week

Mayor Joseph Vale today proclaimed the week of November 9 through 15 as "Optimist Week" and urged citizens to recognize and support the work Optimist club members do to promote the welfare of the boy.

He recalled that Optimists are known as "Friend of the Boy," and are concerned with his mental and moral development. In Newmarket, Optimists sponsor athletic activities for young boys and direct them towards responsible citizenship.

His "Optimist Week" proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the Optimist clubs are devoting their efforts to the task of developing and rehabilitating boys into responsible men and particularly is the Newmarket Optimist club performing a service of great value to Newmarket and surrounding community and;

"Whereas, the week of November 9 is being observed as Optimist Week throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and Puerto Rico;

"Now, therefore, I, as mayor of Newmarket, do hereby commend the Optimists of Newmarket for the service they have performed in our community and I further proclaim that the week of November 9 - 15 shall be duly observed in Newmarket as Optimist Week.

"I further urge that every citizen of Newmarket join in observing Optimist International and in supporting its policy as 'A Friend of the Boy'."

The Optimist Creed:

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.
To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet.

To make all your friends feel that there is something in them.
To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.

To think only of the best, to work only for the best and to expect only the best.

To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own.

To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.

To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.

To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear, and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

TOWEL MAKING SEEN IN MOVIE

About 150 were present at the Newmarket town hall on Monday last week when a motion picture in technicolor, "Towel Tales" was shown. Presented through the courtesy of Senecals, the two-hour program was under the auspices of the Newmarket Women's Institute.

U. C. Carpenter, public relations manager, Caldwell Linen Mills, Iroquois, was master of ceremonies and following the movies which gave a detailed history of towel making, Mr. Carpenter held a brief question period.

The four draws for boxed sets of towels were won by Mrs. M. Cockburn, Mrs. Edward Richardson, Mrs. W. A. Beadwin and Miss L. Neale. There was a table of towels for display and sale. The Women's Institute are indebted to Senecals for arranging the project. The entire proceeds will be used for the rest room, Botsford St.

ELMHURST W.I.

Elmhurst Beach W.I. will meet at the home of Mrs. Walter Sedore November 12.

MOUNT ALBERT W.I.

The monthly meeting of the Mount Albert W.I. will be held at the home of Mrs. B. Sinclair, on Thursday, Nov. 13, at 2:30 p.m. Roll call: What Constitutes a Good Citizen.

SHARON W.I. ENTERTAINS

The Sharon branch of the W.I. is having an "At Home" in the Sharon hall, Friday, Nov. 14, at 1:30 p.m., to entertain their husbands and families. This will be a pot-luck supper. The institute is supplying the meat. Miss Anna Lewis is showing slides, "Glimpses of History of Ontario".

CUBS, GUIDES PARTIES

Cubs, Brownies and Guides in Newmarket celebrated Halloween by holding parties in the scout hall. The boys and girls attended in costumes. Each group had an evening of games, singing and good comradeship with lunch being served.

The scouts invited their dads, the cubs and their fathers to join with them in viewing movies of the World Scout Jamboree which was held in Kingston, Jamaica, in 1952. Members of the Scout-Guide Mothers' auxiliary served light refreshments.

COOKING SCHOOL PRIZES

Prizes were won by women from Newmarket and district at the Canada Packers' Food clinic held in the town hall. The cooking school was sponsored by the York County Hospital Women's auxiliary.

Grand prize, an electric Mixer, was won by Mrs. William Andrews, Newmarket. Mrs. Alma Andrews, Aurora, won the electric tea kettle on Friday and Mrs. Lee, Newmarket, was the lucky winner of a hampered aluminum tray on Monday. Bags of groceries were given away as were the many delicious dishes prepared during the cooking school.

Our readers write

Letters to the editor are always welcome but the names of the writers must be known to the editor.

Dear Editor: Your most interesting paper is read and enjoyed each week by each member of our family.

You give such interesting accounts of most of Newmarket and surrounding district news and activities. However, there is a very outstanding and unique service being conducted each Friday evening in Newmarket town hall by Rev. A. R. Yielding for each and every boy and girl in Newmarket who desires to attend.

By just taking a peek in some Friday evening for yourself, you will be convinced that most of the children, representing every church in town, are there and are thrilled with this meeting, the town hall being filled to capacity, some kiddies sitting two or three on a chair.

The dramatic club, Santa Claus parade and such items of interest to the general public are all so nicely written up in your columns; don't you think Mr. Yielding, who is endeavoring to carry on such a worthwhile Christian work among the children who attend this meeting from toddlers to teen-agers, and often mother and dad too, should be worthy of mention on the front page of your paper at least once?

These children all love and admire Rev. Yielding. Stand and listen some day as he walks along the street. Children from every direction yell, "Hi, Mr. Yielding," showing their love and respect for him.

Who of us can tell how many less "juvenile delinquents" there may be owing to this good and timely interest shown our children? We dare not forget today's boys and girls are tomorrow's men and women.

Let's give Rev. A. R. Yielding a little encouragement and publicity in his fine and noble work.

Thanking you,

Sincerely,
Violet Smith.

Editor's note: We did "peek in" last week. Mr. Yielding is doing a great job. See the "Editor's Notebook", page two.

The Editor: Halloween has come and gone. Destruction, to a certain extent was seen around town. But who's to blame. Maybe it is the teenagers and maybe it is that town organizations are lax.

On Halloween night when all the devil is in you to have a good time, there is not one organization doing anything in the town except the town hall activities for the younger children.

Why not a dance in the arena or the town hall next year? Or even one in the market square? I think it is about time the town woke up to the fact that teenagers can be controlled if there is something for them to do.

If the town and organizations can not handle this, let's elect a teenage council to help organize.

While on the subject, I think the ball park could be more than it has been for recreation for the younger kids. Let's get together next year and see what can be done.

An Interested But Bored Teenager.

WOMEN TEACHERS MEET

The Women Teachers' Federation of two inspectors, York 1 and 9, held a dinner meeting at Country Acres, Yonge St., on Monday evening, Oct. 20.

After dinner the president, Miss Jean Muirhead, Markham, welcomed 65 members. A short business meeting was conducted by the first vice-president, Miss Kathleen Webster, Stouffville. Reports of the annual meeting of the F.W.T.A.O. were given by the delegates, Miss Muirhead and Miss Myrtle Hamill.

Games, contests and a short skit presented by a group of Aurora teachers brought the meeting to a close.

The next regular association meeting will be held in Stouffville on November 25 at 8 p.m. An interesting program including an exchange of Christmas ideas, has been planned.

MISSIONS THEME AT FREE METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY

"Christian Missions, the World's Hope" is the theme for Men and Missions Sunday which will be observed at the Free Methodist church, in Newmarket next Sunday, Nov. 9, according to Rev. Earl S. Bull, pastor. This marks the 22nd annual observance of this day for promoting missionary programs in which 29 different denominations have participated.

Free Methodist missions expanded to another field in the past year by opening work on the island of Formosa. This brings to 20 the total of fields in which the church has mission work. During the past year, 17 young people have sailed to fill foreign appointments on Free Methodist fields with another preparing to sail soon.

According to Dr. Byron S.

Dr. and Mrs. John Leonard Sullivan are pictured after their recent wedding at Coytesville, New Jersey. The bride is Dorothy Phyllis Thompson, daughter of Mrs. E. Rank, Newmarket. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Sullivan, Toronto.

HOLD REVIVAL SERVICES

Commencing Tuesday, Nov. 11, and continuing through until Sunday, Nov. 23, revival services will be held in the Free Methodist church, each evening except Saturday, at 8 p.m. Rev. C. W. Reynolds, district superintendent of the Kingston district, will be the guest speaker. You will not want to miss hearing this noted speaker and the special singing groups each night. A cordial welcome awaits you.

COOKING SCHOOL

Over $200 was raised for the work of the hospital by the York County Hospital Women's school. It was held in the Newmarket town hall Friday, Oct. 31, and Monday, Nov. 3, with more than 450 in attendance.

The cooking school, conducted by Mrs. Joan Thomas of Canada Packers' Food clinic featured practical cookery. Mrs. Audrey Hilliard assisted Mrs. Thomas.

Inexpensive cuts of meat, economical main dishes and desserts were prepared. The home economists in attendance explained the technical know-how behind each operation. They told why certain cuts of meat require slower cooking and outlined the types of food deserving of inclusion on the family menu.

Both are Superb!

IN MEMORIAM

FAIRBARN—In loving memory of my dear father, George Fairbarn, who passed away November 5, 1930, and my dear mother, Isabella Fairbarn, who passed away November 10, 1940. Time changes many things. But love and memory ever cling. Ever remembered by daughter Rosa.

LEPARD—In loving memory of my dear husband, Chase A. Lepard, who passed away November 10, 1943. God knew that he was suffering. That the hill was hard to climb. So he closed his weary eyelids. And whispered "Peace be thine." Away in the beautiful hills of God. By the valley of rest so fair. Some time, some day, I know not when. I will meet my loved one there. Ever remembered by his wife LISCUMB.

LISCUMB—In loving memory of my dear daughter, Joan Elcanor Liscumb, who passed away November 7, 1944. As I loved you so I miss you. In memory you are ever near. Loved, remembered, longed for always. Treasured with a love sincere. Always lovingly remembered by mother.

LISCUMB—In loving memory of Joan Liscumb, who passed away November 7, 1944. Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eakins.

MITCHELL—In memory of our dear mother, Isabelle Mitchell, who passed away October 31, 1948. No one knows how much we miss you. No one knows the bitter pain. We have suffered, since we lost you. Life has never been the same. In our hearts your memory lingers. Sweetly tender, fond and true. There is not a day, dear mother. That we do not think of you. Too dearly loved to be forgotten by Jack and Helen, Herb, Marie and Connie.

WIGHT—In loving memory of our nephew, Billy, who was taken from us on November 3, 1950, age 19 months. All the little angels were robed in white. All happy at play in the mist of light. When Jesus came calling and said to his hand. Here's another little playmate. Give Billy your hand. Up in God's beautiful garden. Away from all sin and care. Asleep in the arms of Jesus. We shall meet our Billy there. Deeply loved and always remembered by Uncle Jim and Aunt Mabel.

WILLIAMSON—In loving memory of our dear mother who passed away October 30, 1951. You left quietly. Your thoughts unknown. But you left a memory. We are proud to own. Son Guy, daughter-in-law Alma, granddaughter Barbara.

How Can I Start An Investment Programme?

By Planned Savings Through Life Insurance.

The basis of an investment plan in most cases should be life insurance. It meets in a sound and regular way the real objectives of investment—savings for the future, a retirement income and money for your family should anything happen to you. What is more, life insurance achieves these ends economically and without worry or risk. Discuss with a Mutual Life of Canada representative a life insurance investment plan for your future.

Picture News from C-I-L

TEMPER SAVER is this new polythene plastic tray that releases ice cubes in a jiffy, all at once or one at a time. No more jabbing with a knife or holding under the tap. "Just flick the wrist," says this pretty miss. Polythene is odorless, tasteless... won't freeze in the refrigerator tray compartment.

DAUGHTER'S SUITCASE is a junior edition of mother's in this happy holiday picture. "Fabrikoid" and "Fibrilite" are very popular for luggage. The chances are these versatile materials were used for the little girl's shoulder bag, mother's handbag and the car upholstery, too. These chemical materials are easy to clean, inexpensive and resistant to scuffing.

CAPTURING summer activities with your camera gets a lot of help from Du Pont "Varigam" projection paper now available in Canada. Provides ten contrast grades in a single paper, gives high quality prints of the right contrast from every negative—thin, normal or dense. Ask your dealer about "Varigam" or write C-I-L, P.O. Box 10, Montreal.

Did you know?

Between 1945 and the end of 1951, the general wholesale prices index in Canada increased 82 per cent. During the same period, the selling prices index of C-I-L manufactured products increased only 35 per cent.

Murray Roberts Heads St. Johns Parents-Teachers Association

The first regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of St. John's school, Newmarket, was held at the school on Monday, Nov. 4, when Murray Roberts was installed as the charter president. The organization meeting had been held in June.

Purpose of the newly formed association has been stated: "To bring into closer relationship the parents and teachers of St. John's school so that they may co-operate intelligently and efficiently in promoting the welfare and particular needs of the children; co-ordinate the spiritual and educational forces of the home and school in a program of Catholic child training; to offer through well-planned programs, information of particular interest to parents; to encourage the maintenance of high standards of family life and to create a greater appreciation of Catholic education."

Rev. Father McCabe opened the meeting with prayer. The president welcomed the fathers, mothers and teachers to the meeting and extended the association's appreciation to Sister Mary Timothy and Mrs. S. R. Stevens for their share of the organization work.

The proposed organization and by-laws were read and adopted, with several changes being made. A letter from the Newmarket Home and School association extending best wishes for success of the newly formed PTA of St. John's was read. Sister Mary Timothy introduced the new principal, Sister Mary Chrysostom.

The group will meet the first Monday of each month with the exception of June, July, August and September. Membership is open to "any parent or guardian having a child in St. John's school and any person interested in the association."

Rev. Father McCabe gave a brief outline of the work of such an association. He laid particular stress on the home as the basic educational source with the school as a continuation of education in the home.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are: president, Murray Roberts; vice-pres., Mrs. Arthur West; secretary, Richard Hamon; treas., A. A. Conlin. Sister Mary Chrysostom, as principal of the school, is the honorary president, and the parish priest, Rev. Father McCabe, is the spiritual director of the association.

Christian Baptist Church Observes 130th Anniversary

This Sunday will mark 130 years of spiritual leadership in the Newmarket area by the Christian Baptist church.

About 1820 the Christian Church of New York state sent a missionary to Newmarket at the request of a group of worshippers. From these humble beginnings the Christian church grew to include some seven or eight churches in the outlying districts of this community. In later years a union of the Congregational and Christian churches of New York was consummated.

In 1919 the Newmarket Congregational Christian church was welcomed into the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec and became known as the Newmarket Christian Baptist church.

At this time special speakers will commemorate this long period of community leadership. Dr. George P. Gilmour, president of McMaster University, Hamilton, will be the anniversary speaker for Sunday, Nov. 9, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. A church family supper will bring the members and adherents together on Wednesday evening at 8.30 p.m.

The final services of this occasion will be observed on Sunday, Nov. 16, when, at 11 a.m., Rev. Dixon A. Burns, B.A., superintendent of the Baptist Home Mission board, will be the speaker. Rev. Egerton Young, B.A., of the British and Foreign Bible society will conduct the closing service at 7 p.m. when his subject will be "The New Bible."

Many old friends will be anticipated in attendance at these services.

IT'S A Woman's World

BY CAROLINE ION

We welcome to the world of women the publisher of the Sutton Reporter, Laura H. Sheppard. As guest columnist, she reports on the civil defense course being conducted for the nurses of North York. Mrs. Sheppard, who is herself a graduate nurse, has been in attendance at these meetings, three of which have been held.

Nurses of this district, members of North York Nurses' Association, have attended two of a course of lectures on "Nursing in A-B-C Warfare", and have vividly seen the horrors faced by any people under modern war attack. The course is being given each Monday in the Agricultural Office, Newmarket.

The first lecture was on Monday, Oct. 20, and had Mrs. Grace Schell, Scarborough, give a lecture on Nursing Service. A film was shown entitled "The Waking Point", showing the work being done toward Civil Defense in England and the idea that there still is time to do something toward learning what to do in case of an attack.

Mr. Denne Bosworth of Newmarket and Miss Verna Smyth, York County Health Unit, outlined Civil Defense Health Service Planning, as they explained areas designated in event of the dropping of an atomic bomb. From the centre of attack, an area 50 miles about is a mutual aid area, which will send help into the stricken section. Outside that is reception area, where casualties will be sent for care.

On Monday, last week Mr. Caldwell, a teacher at Newmarket high school, gave a talk on Atomic Bomb Phenomena, illustrated by slides of detail. Maj. J. H. Adams, Clarkson, showed a film, "Tale of Two Cities", which showed the immense damage done at Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II, with horrors by blast and by fire.

Following the film he gave a talk on Communication and Transportation. In this he showed how completely helpless Toronto would be in event of an atomic bomb being exploded above City Hall. All local facilities, such as water, gas and electricity, would be wrecked, and, of course, street car transportation ended.

He pointed out that every living thing within half a mile of the bombed area would be killed. Fires and building damage would result from the harbor to St. Clair Ave., and from Logan Ave. in the east to Ossington Ave. in the west. Fifty per cent of Toronto's hospital facilities are in this area and would be wiped out, as would the fire halls, police stations and other buildings of importance. Fires would burn in this entire area and it has been calculated that 1,100 pumps would be needed to even keep fires contained in the wrecked area; there are only 600 pumps in all Ontario. It looks like a hopeless task, as Maj. Adams pointed out, and will take a terrific number of people and work to prepare for this eventuality.

If this were to happen, help would have to be rushed in from mutual-aid areas and with the casualties, probably 75,000 injured and burned, to be taken care of in the reception areas. He finished by remarking the old saying, "It can't happen here" has to be changed to "It can happen here" as happened in Nagasaki. It positively can happen if an enemy starts out to attack.

Splits In 8-Team Group

Newmarket Spitfires will skate in an eight-team O.H.A. group this season, according to an announcement by Bill Hanley, O.H.A. business manager, Tuesday. Our intermediate hopefuls will go against Eddie Bush's Collingwood tribe and Midland. That's one division of the proposed eight-team set-up. In sector two are Georgetown, Oakville, Milton, Fergus and Elmira. All but the latter two carry an intermediate A rating. Fergus and Elmira are intermediate B but always send out strong clubs to carry their colors. The conveners' meeting of all clubs concerned was to be held at Alliston last night.

Present plan, so the O.H.A. figure, is to play triple schedule between Collingwood, Midland and Newmarket and probably a double home and home set with the teams in sector two. Working on the basis of that proposal, Spits would have 16 home and 16 away games. The schedule is expected to get underway the third week in November.

Aurora Bears delighted the handful of fans who saw them in action on Friday as they whipped Dixie Junior Bees 3-2. Aurora had a wide margin most of the way despite the fact that they were outmanned 23 to 11 and Dixie kept pouring out the players all the way. "Stub" Edwards, Walt Fines, rookie Bob Fallis and Bill Smith looked especially good. The officials were irked by the absence of Bobs Cook, Jackie Woods, Ron Knowles and one or two others. It was of course Halloween night.

Joe Burke played a grand game in goal and he's said to have won the regular berth from Dixie Rhodes. Rhodes, it is understood, will be given his release and will play for Downsview juveniles who are said to be hot stuff.

George Dempsey, a big lad with lots of moxie and a terrific shot, made his debut on the defence and he looks like a permanent fixture. Dempsey qualifies by way of residence, although he may be classified as an import as may Woods who has not yet been released by Nobleton.

Friday night will see another game but as I write the opposition is not named, with strings out for Lindsay, Unionville, Fergus.

Next Wednesday a real treat will be provided as Butch Keeling will lead his Brampton Regents into Aurora. The Regents, who are affiliated with New York Rangers, have a number of the lads who played both C and B against Aurora still in the line-up.

Rural hockey looks headed for a big year with Markham Eagles and Sutton Greenshirts heading a compact section composed of Woodbridge, Brougham, Brooklin, Sunderland, Port Perry, Uxbridge, Beaverton, Peaches, Agincourt among those counted in.

Stouffville Clippers got off to a flying start Saturday as they downed Orillia Terriers 4-1. There are a few changes in the Stouffville line-up. Moe Petch and Jack Runney have decided to play with Markham Eagles, rural loop. Both boys are ex-Aurora players and decided the long grind of O.H.A. hockey wasn't worthwhile. Bud Watson, who was recently married, has decided to hang up his skates, although we won't be surprised to see him back again before the season ends.

New additions include Mac Clement, returning to the club after a two year's absence in Scotland, and Gus Chard, Weston, for the defence, and Gordy Lewis back from Scotland for the forward line. Normie Stundsen and Blake Eatough guard the nets; Herbie Rose and Jim Machin are back on defence. Bob Bangay features as playing coach with Ron Bell, George Stark Nick Bangay, Frank Stephenson, Polly Minton and Jackie Watson completing the forward line.

November night-cap: Heard from my old pal, Reg Westbrook, of the Collingwood Bulletin-Enterprise, whom you will recall as the stonewall goalie of Collingwood Shipbuilders. Reg reports that the Builders, while they'll be defending their title with gusto, have had a few blows in recent weeks from which they're still staggering.

Len Cooke, the classy winger, has moved over to Simcoe with Jack Dyle. Jack Cochrane, another fast boy, has gone to Gananoque to join Al Morrill, junior star of the Greenshirts, who was posted to the eastern town by his bank employees. The rest of the club is intact as yet.

Not too much as yet out of either Midland or Parry Sound. Midland have several new ones and Roy Conacher may don the blades as well as coach the juniors this season. Parry Sound imported a playing coach in the summer and are said to have one or two imports.

Denny Labine, former Spitfire, will again lead the Sounders and he's in great pre-season form. Henny Harris, former Sutton Greenshirt, is coaching this season in the Toronto mercantile ranks and he'll play too. Barry Mishaw, a member of the Aurora Bears in junior B a couple of years ago, is on defence for Reliable Transport at East York, while Bill Shill, who played with Aurora Army in 1943 is back with Brantford Seniors as is Bill Simpelt, formerly of Midland and well known in these parts.

Bears Claim First Win

Aurora Bears scored an impressive 3-2 win over Dixie Bees, an O.H.A. junior B club, in the Aurora arena Friday to rack up their first win of the hockey season.

Trailers 2-0 after two rounds of close checking, Bears erupted for three goals in the final 20 minutes to cop the verdict. Grant Edwards was the big star in the Bears' third period rally. Edwards scored twice and Pepper Martin went on a lonesome rink-long safari to notch the Bears' final and winning tally.

Edwards accepted help from ever-ready blue-line basher Andy Closs on his number one goal and Joe Gasko rated a mark in the assist column on number two. Coach Charlie Rowntree, when he counted noses, found his bench strength down to a goalie, four defencemen and two front line units.

Joe Burke came up with a fine shot-blocking effort. Newman George Dempsey, though he made several sin-bin appearances, showed up well on the blue-line along with Andy Closs Jr., Walt Fines and Bob Hanna.

Bob Fallis was the pick of the front liners. Pepper Martin and Bill Smith came up with solid rushing and checking jobs and Jim Romanelli made his first appearance in a Bears' outfit.

Only four minor penalties, two each, were needed to keep the fast-stepping teams under control. Manager Andy Closs is trying to line up St. Mike's Buzzers for this Friday night's hockey show in the Aurora arena.

QUEENSVILLE

The Queensville W.A. invites young and old to attend a croquino party, Nov. 14, in the Sunday school room. Lunch will be served.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Hundreds of hockey followers cheered silently when, a few weeks ago, six new nominees to the mythical Hockey Hall of Fame included such semi-moderns as "Old Folsom" Neil Stewart, and free-wheeling Bill Cook. Six in all were named, and the other four, while not so well known to modern followers of the game, revived nostalgic memories among older enthusiasts who remember hockey in its formative years. For the names of "Dickie" Boon, "Moose" Goheen, "Mickey" MacKay and "Moose" Johnson were as well known in their day as the Richards, Howes and other stars of today.

It is extraordinary that the gentlemen who make these nominations should have overlooked Stewart so long. For it is 12 years since he completed hockey's most productive chore, by scoring 324 goals in 15 seasons of play with three different clubs.

It is 26 years since Stewart scored 34 goals in his first year, when only 36 games were played, a mark never since achieved by any rookie, won the Hart trophy his first year, and led his Montreal Maroon team to the Stanley Cup and the O'Brien Cup. We claim that no such combination of feats has ever been recorded before, and possibly never will again.

They called him Old Poison because this big, seemingly indolent player who skated with such deceptive laziness was sheer poison to goalies, and baffling to defense players. For an entire season, Stewart fooled practically everybody. He skated so casually, in his easy-going way, into midst of things, and suddenly, the puck would be nestling in the opposing nets, and Stewart would be credited with another goal. And the dead-panned centre would skate slowly away, still chewing thoughtfully on his gum.

Stewart was a big fellow. Six feet in height, he weighed 200 pounds, was game to a degree, and opposing players who, year after year, tried to shoulder him out of scoring range found themselves bouncing off his stalwart frame. He had thick, powerful wrists, was quick as a cat when the puck hit his stick, and could whip it away with uncanny accuracy.

Bill Cook was the trigger-man for Rangers Cook-Boucher-Cook line, one of the finest in hockey history. A swinging, long-striding skater, Cook seemed to be skating in circles, but that was the type of play this threesome used so effectively. This forward line slid passes while going full speed, and always there was someone there to pick up the pass, and throw a deadly accurate shot. Mostly these apparently pointless passes found their way to Bill's stick, and then it was every goaler for himself. Cook played until he was in his 40's. On durability alone, he rated something.

Two Winners

Missed our weekly Hashman pick last week. Two sports and two winners of the Hashman award and Roxy Theatre pass this week. Judging from Tuesday's start-off games, it's going to be a big year in the town league. Elmer "Three Star" Fergie only has to pick three stars from two teams; we're going to attempt to pick one star from four teams and 60 hard trying hockeyists. Our choice, Loring Silent Doolittle. Why? Doolittle went 60 minutes on the Vandorf defense. From our vantage point he got a piece of every Kettleby rusher, big and small, and turned a terrific game. He's our one award winner.

We look at football for number two. Fred Speer's N.H.S. gridders were topped off their North York championship perch by Frank Gregoire's Aurora Double-Blue Bombers. This result was more or less expected. N.H.S. gridders created an upset by winning the first game of the playoffs. Player that caught our eye in that N.H.S. win was Taylor "Gunch" Gilbert. His inspirational football, ball tugging, hard tackling and never-say-die spirit was the key factor in the N.H.S. win. That's why he's our second Hashman award winner and Roxy Theatre pass recipient.

Spits Win Two Games To Start The Season Rolling

Wonder if the Spits can keep up this pace all winter? They're off to a flying, winning start. Already it's two wins in the bag. They triumph here Thursday 11-9 and stride into Muskies territory for a 7-6 Saturday win.

General consensus among the guessperts after the Spits opening fashion show here was "they'll do". This year's crop can fire goals; proof was 18 in two games. Coach Harry Morrison took a look at 22 gallopers Thursday. The count read three net-minders, seven rear-guard and four complete forward units.

Aside from hold-overs from last season new recruits Zip Thompson and Les Clarke, rear-guard, and front liners Fred Houghton and Gord Lewis looked sharp in their debut in Spits colors.

Spits jumped to business early. They were 4-2 leaders after 20 minutes, led 9-8 after two rounds and saw Lindsay rally to outscore them 3-2 in close-up session.

Myles McInnis, flying low and working smoothly with new centerman, Fred Houghton and winger, Grant Firth powered the Spits' attack with three goals. Gord Lewis, who set up the plays for Bill Johnston and Ken Broughton, triggered two while Bill Mabbett, skating between Don Smith and Bill Patrick, counted a pair.

Bill Patrick, on the hustle along left boards, racked up a single as did Fred Houghton, Bill "Hot Shot" Johnston and Al Shewchuk. Keith Collings centering for Bill Mabbett and Tom Brodie didn't hit pay dirt but looked impressive in his Spitfire debut.

Defensively Les Clarke and free wheeling Ross Hochberg provided the Spits' net-minding platoon of Bill Grant, Ken Tupp and Bill Mulholland with the best protection. They worked a period each in that order. Al Shewchuk and Jack Andrews saw seven Muskies get around them for goals. Muskies they couldn't stop was Vic Corley who fired four goals.

In the Saturday game Don Smith and Keith Collings counted two each and Fred Houghton, Don Gibson and Grant Winters singles to pace the Spits to their 7-6 win.

Woodchucks Tame Cats In Challenge Game

Possibly due to the excitement of the Spits' opener and town league start-off games, you hockey bugs in large numbers missed the tit-bit hockey attraction of the week at the Memorial.

If you did, here's the story in a nutshell. It concerns the titanic challenge tussle between the Prince Charles Woodchucks and Gorham St. Tiger Cats. Those two willing small fry puck pursuing packs got at each other last Saturday.

Thanks to Lorne Babcock who fired seven goals, the "Charles" flattened the Tiger Cats (Yeah Argos) 13-7. Master Babcock could have almost done it all alone but accepted two-goal help from Burton Smith and single goals from Brian Millon, Gary Campbell, Jim Bond and Gary Bugler just to make it official.

Mighty atom Bill Forhan, along with Jim Garrett, Kenie Cassavoy and George Robertson, sparked the vanquished. Bill Forhan, miffed by the loss, had this to say from his Gorham St. roost, "Wait until the next game, we'll slaughter the bums".

Anyhow, says Bill, we can't win without a coach, which naturally brings up the question of who was the successful coach. It was a lady, the only lady coach in North York, Heather Johnston. Kids are selling tickets to finance the next game; better get yours early.

Peel-York League Opens November 14

The Peel-York hockey league will swing into action with a double-header attraction in the Nibleton arena Friday, Nov. 14, reports league secretary Bill Brendon. Three teams, King City, Bolton and Kleinburg are definitely in the race.

Both Schomberg and Nobleton, considering entries, have run into difficulty getting organized. Both teams will practice this week and will either post separate entries to round out a five-team circuit or join forces for the league's fourth team.

The league's initial double-header gets underway at 7.30. The Peel-York league will affiliate directly with the O.R.I.A. this season which is a departure from past years when the teams filed separate entries for a bye into the playoffs.

MOUNTIES - AURORA FRIDAY
Mount Albert, fresh from slaying Sutton Greenshirts and Newmarket Regents, will be visitors on Aurora ice Friday night for an exhibition tilt with the Closs-Rowntree Aurora Bears.

Mounties have two wins safely tucked under their wings and will be out to keep their winning drive alive. Bears of course will be striving for their second straight victory. Game time is 8.30 p.m.

Everybody Gets Chance At Hockey In Aurora

The hockey pot in Aurora is bubbling. The big boys and kids are stirring. Anyone and everyone who can tote a shiny stick will get a chance to play hockey this winter. Aurora hopes in junior of course will ride with the Closs-Rowntree Bears.

Below that, Aurora will be represented in juvenile, midget and bantam via the newly organized North York minor hockey league. Bill Mundell, Jack Andrews and Scotty McGhee have signed on to coach the juvenile entry. The team has been on ice several times and appears loaded with top drawer talent for a run at the North York title.

If their hopes are to be realized, they'll have to overcome Richmond Hill and Stouffville and possibly Newmarket. Here's some of the skaters who have appeared at the juvenile practices to date: George Keroff, Merl Winters, Ted Rogers, Stu Wilson, Walt Southwood, Bud Sutton, Lou Davis, Bob Phillips, Don Morning, Bill Wray, John Richards, Ron Knowles, Bob McGann, Steve Mills, Gerald Chapman, Bob Morgan and Ron Starkey.

Bob Andrews, Cliff Murrell, Ted McCleenny, Jim Preston, Earl Lethian, Norm Ethridge, Bill Egan, Ron Tulloch, Gerry Storey and Ron Geddes are expected to turn out with the club in the near future. It should give Aurora the team to beat in juvenile ranks.

Bill Mundell is working out final plans for his four-team Saturday morning pee-wee league and the smallest puck chasers should be taking to the ice in the near future.

As yet, the Aurora Town League hasn't been organized. Two meetings have been held to date without any tangible results. Last year's president Jim Murray reports a third meeting has been called for Nov. 15 at the arena at 2 p.m.

Town League Opens

Town leaguers got away to flying, rugged, rollicking start Tuesday. First night winners: Mount Albert and Vandorf. Sparked by Skip Taylor's three and two each by John Learoyd, Doug Ross and Dave Couch, Mount Albert slew Town Regents 11-3.

In the nightcap, first period goals by Bill Kingdon and Jim Preston and two last frame insurance tallies fired by Clem Elias and Mickey Sutton, furnished Vandorf Bruins with a 6-4 win over Kettleby Jets.

In the start-off game, the streaking Mounties sewed it up early with a 5-1 first period edge. Regents scored at a goal a period clip. Ken Thoms provided Regents' first bright spot, taking a pass from Laurie Vanzant and Ortie Thoms. It was Bob Smith from Cliff Gunn in the second and finally Stan Gibbons sunk a pass from Bob Smith for the Regents' finale.

In the opening paragraph mentioned, the Mounties' big scoring guns were Homer Gregg and ex-Spitfire Swiftly Todd cut a slice of scoring melon with singletons; Bruce Paisley three, Ken Davie, two, shone in the assist column. Mountie defensive aces were blue-liner Keith Dunn and goalie Bill Mulholland.

Now for a quick run down of the scoring in the rugged after game. Mickey Sutton was Vandorf's only two-goal man. It was one each for Bill Kingdon, Jim Preston, Archie Foster and Clem Elias. Gene Rose, aided by brother Ralph, a pair of Kettleby's Aurora helpers, broke the goose-egg against the Jets early in the second. Before time ran out Elmo Phillips, Jim Patton shot second period goals and Stan Foster fired a third stanza tally. Main blocks in Kettleby's attempt to get away to a winning start in the circuit were supplied by Loring Doolittle's fine defensive display and Tommy Hulme's sure fire shot blocking. Every team in the circuit is star-studded—there'll be some great town league tussles, blood and thunder boys resume next Tuesday.

Regents: W. Ingram, J. Cook, D. Cooper, J. Smith, L. Vanzant, L. Waller, B. Dureh, K. Groves, M. McCaffrey, L. Thoms, K. Thoms, M. MacDonald, S. Gibbons, J. Staley, R. Smith, C. Gunn.

Mount Albert: W. Mulholland, K. Dunn, K. Davie, H. McDonald, E. Paisley, D. Couch, H. Gregg, H. Berwick, J. Learoyd, S. Taylor, D. Ross, S. Todd, W. Brett, B. Paisley.

Vandorf: T. Hulme, L. Doolittle, A. Lloyd, C. Timbers, H. Timbers, Y. F. DeRoc, M. Sutton, W. Kingdon, A. Forfar, J. Preston, D. Richardson, D. Forfar.

HASH

Newmarket Sports Editor

Our large sporting world was dealt a severe blow this week. Andy Davis was buried Monday and a great deal of sunshine and laughter went away with the cheerful sportsman who has been a landmark in Hub sports for more than a quarter of a century. Andy was 67 years old but to the very last retained a cheery, keen interest in sports.

He was a link with the good old Trolley League days, a king pin in our best home brow junior crews of the late twenties and our gullant little Redmen who carried the Newmarket torch through to a Dominion junior title.

Although off the hub's active hockey executive list over the past decade, except possibly in an honorary capacity, Andy kept a keen interest in Newmarket sport and along with his brothers Aubrey and E. J., never turned down a plea for assistance from any sportsman or sports organization.

When a man has lived a full life like this kind hearted true sportsman, you do not mourn for him. You feel sorry for yourself and the others who will miss him and you know where things will be brightened up in that corner.

Time flies. Seems like yesterday, it was 1933, when hub fans were buzzing the Maple Leaf Gardens to see the Redmen carve their niche in hockey's hall of fame. Newmarket took on all comers in those days; the town was deserted when the Redmen were in session at the Gardens in those titanic playoff struggles with Sea Fleas, Stratford, Ottawa, Montreal and Regina.

They were good hockey days with Faintlin' Ran Forder, Silver Doran, Sparky Vail, Red McArthur, Frank Huggins, P. Kelly, Reggie Peterson, Norm Mann, Don Wilson and the rest of the title winning troops.

Before the advent of the imports, it was our battlin' home-brew juniors. Andy's favorites were the 1926 edition, who put the hub on the hockey map and made possible the future successful stab at the Memorial Cup.

In 1926 it was Butts Corbett, Doc Ames in goal, Chuck Thoms and Scrooge Perrault on defense, Fred Murray, Doug Marshall, Ikey Trivett, Sonny Townsley and Bill Thoms up front. That team knew how to drag in the customers.

Remember that 2,200 or better squeezing into the rink for that tussle with Niagara Falls? Those were some of the things Andy Davis helped to put across and liked to recall. There's no doubt Andy Davis will be missed on the sport beat and mourned by all the hub and district sportsmen.

Neighborhood Notes: Spits looked sharp in their first outing. Seems to be some doubt whether they can retain Zip Thompson, the free-wheeling rear-guard and steady worker Gord Lewis. The latter, along with Bill Mabbett and Mac Clement, Richmond Hill, performed in the Scottish league last winter. Spits have nailed a couple of going concerns in Fred Houghton and Aurora Bears' graduate and Bradford citizen, Keith Collings.

National hat week. That was last week, which reminds me Don Gibson, our now signed Spitfire winger, cracked four homers to win the Baltimore bid offered by sportsman Bert Morrison for the Redmen who supplied the most over the fence music. Baseball yet, also brings

Police Chief Pays Tribute To Staff And All Who Made Record Peaceful Hallowe'en

"In all of my 42 years' experience this has been the quietest Hallowe'en I have known," Chief Dunham told Aurora News Page. "No broken fences, no damage to property, and no rowdiness," he said, as he paid unreserved tribute to his staff and the children and teen-agers of Aurora. "It is something to be proud of", he added.

The chief was particularly anxious that tribute should be paid to "his boys," Constable Langman and Kroetker. "They worked tirelessly," he said, "in an effort to see that good order was maintained." He was most anxious that his staff should have full credit for their excellent work, and equally anxious that the children and teen-agers should be commended on their co-operation.

It was in every way a model Hallowe'en celebration, in which Aurora is entitled to feel proud. The high school and public school authorities gave parties for the students and children and tribute is due to them for their work in these directions.

An admirable and original feature, initiated by Chief Dunham, were the talks given to the children and students at both schools by Constable Langman, who stressed the need of good behavior and asked for co-operation. These talks were an excellent idea and doubtless played a major influence in attaining the most orderly Hallowe'en night in Aurora's history.

Things might not have proved quite so good but for the swiftness with which the police acted when a rowdy group from a district south of Aurora were observed in town. They were promptly rounded up and warned to return to their own locality. They wisely heeded the warning and after their departure no trouble was experienced.

October 31, 1952, will stand out as Aurora's quietest Hallowe'en festival, and for this excellent consummation the police, school authorities and the children and teen-agers can share an almost equal credit. Warnings and admonitions may be given but unless the juniors respond to them they are all in vain. The Aurora juniors did respond and by their co-operation set up a model for future years. All in all, it was a proud night for the town of Aurora.

Remembrance Events

Mr. R. D. Hodgkinson, secretary of the Aurora branch (385) of the Canadian Legion, draws attention in a circular to members of important events that will take place this weekend in connection with Remembrance ceremonies. As he states: "Another year has rolled around and it is again time to pause in memory of our fallen comrades."

Tomorrow night, Friday, Nov. 7, at 8:30 p.m., at the Graystones, a concert by 24 musicians in aid of the Poppy Fund will be given. Saturday, November 8, will be Poppy Day when a vigorous canvass will be carried out, the objective of which will be to raise as much in funds as possible for welfare work.

Sunday, Nov. 9, will be Remembrance Day with a service to be held in the United church. The salute will be taken by Major-General Churchill Mann, C.B.E., D.S.O., M.C. The hour of the fall-in will be 1:30 at the Aurora District High school, followed by the laying of wreaths and a short service at the cenotaph. The dress will comprise legion or regimental berets, arm bands and medals. All veterans are urged to attend the parade, whether Legion members or not. "Prince of Peace"

Messrs Cousins And Underhill Should Have Had Direction To Keep To Business Of Meeting

The joint meeting of council and the Arena board which was held on Monday night, October 27, was often farcical when it was not just plain ridiculous. This is the second of such joint meetings, the previous one being closed to the press. Why have these joint meetings been held? Because the board has failed to do its job.

There have been no joint meetings held between the council and the Recreation Commission. Why? Because that organization has done its job and has every reason to be proud of its performance. The Arena board, under the chairmanship of Mr. F. R. Underhill, has not done its job satisfactorily. This failure has brought about many just criticisms. We have been among its critics.

The joint meeting held on October 27 was claimed to have "harmony" as its goal. But quite obviously harmony was not in the mind of Mr. Underhill, and his colleague, Mr. Cousins. If it had been they would have restrained themselves to the subject in hand, namely, the arena. They didn't so restrain themselves, but blasted away at Aurora News Page because it had dared to criticize the board's proven inefficiency.

Council Criticisms

Mr. Underhill made the astonishing statement that the board had not been criticized by council. He must be living in a day-dream! From the month of April until October 27, the night of the last meeting, the board has constantly been under attack

COUNCIL REPORT

Appointment Of Town Clerk Goes To Mr. G. Wilkinson: Mr. S. C. King Building Insp.

A regular meeting of the town council was held on Monday night, November 3, with Mayor Rose in the chair and all members present. Among other highlights of an unusually heavy session, recorded in other columns, was the appointment of Mr. George Wilkinson as town clerk and treasurer, chosen from 21 applicants.

In the absence of Reeve Cook, who was unable to be present until 9 p.m., Councillor Corbett presented accounts from the finance committee.

Among the correspondence received was a letter from the Junior Chamber of Commerce requesting permission to place posters on telegraph poles in connection with their get-out-and-vote campaign. The request was granted.

Another communication was an application from the police, asking for increases in salaries, based on supporting arguments including the cost of living and the fact that no increases had been granted over a period of two years. The application was referred to the police committee.

Mayor Rose congratulated the new town clerk on his appointment, saying that since he came to Aurora Mr. Wilkinson had created for himself a most favorable reputation.

ON THE RECORD

The ratepayers of Aurora have an investment of $80,000 in the arena. That is a lot of money. They are entitled to a complete overall statement of how the money has been spent. It has never been given to them. Until this year the annual operating figures, included in a financial statement, have not been endorsed either by date or signature.

As a result of the existing dissatisfaction a further joint meeting of council and the arena board was held on Monday night, October 27. Nothing of a practical nature was achieved at this meeting, which lasted for two and a half hours. A considerable amount of time was taken up by chairman Underhill in denouncing the Aurora News Page, which has tried to do its duty to the citizens of Aurora by keeping before them the facts concerned with the arena.

On more than one occasion Mr. Underhill has embarked on abusive tirades against this newspaper and its Aurora editor. Presumably his purpose is to silence criticism. Crying out that he never sought a position on the arena board, he continues in clam-like fashion to hold on to it. Holding on to the chairmanship of the board, which has demonstrated its incapacity to handle the job given to it, he continues to indulge in attacks on those who have done their best to bring about an improvement in arena conditions.

Among those he has attacked is Councillor D. J. Murray, who knows more about the arena and its affairs than his chief critic. Mr. Murray has worked in the interests of the arena and the ratepayers of Aurora. Instead of being congratulated by the chairman of the Arena board for his active services he has been subjected to abuse and described as a "nuisance". But that is not the verdict of the people of Aurora. It is the verdict only of an incompetent board.

After being in office for several years Mr. Underhill and some of his colleagues were actually asking council to define their duties. There was mention of getting out a by-law when a by-law has been in existence since May 30, 1949. It is by-law number 1027.

Councillor Corbett described the arena as being in a "deplorable" condition. Commenting on the new part of the building, for which Mr. Underhill and his colleagues were responsible, Mayor Rose said: "I don't know how the floor of the new part can be so terrible. It's like sand. I place the responsibility on the rink committee." Councillor Jones condemned certain portions of the seating as being unsafe. Councillor King was the author of a motion directing the Arena board to get busy and put the arena in shape. Councillor Tucker recorded his dissatisfaction that the work had not been done.

These are facts which this newspaper has given its readers. They are on the record and cannot be disputed. In face of all this Mr. Underhill claimed that the board had never been criticized by council. The real cause of the trouble, he maintained, was this newspaper, presumably because it kept the citizens of Aurora informed on the facts. Whether or not it pleases or displeases Mr. Underhill, this newspaper will continue to give its readers the facts as we understand them.

Having said that we will now express our own opinion of the arena board under the chairmanship of Mr. Underhill, we believe it to be inadequate and incompetent. We believe the right solution is that it should quit and make room for another and better setup.

"HARMONY"

The latest slogan stung in Aurora is "Harmony". There should be harmony. No controversy. No criticism. No differences of opinion. Everybody saying the same thing. Just one large and happy family. Everybody smiling. No "out-of-town paper". Only the Banner, and after that the morgue. Beautiful harmony.

We saw something of that beautiful harmony at the joint meeting on October 27. Mr. Cousins praised Mr. Underhill; Mr. Underhill praised Mr. Tucker; Mr. Cook praised Mr. Cousins; Deputy-reeve Murray praised the board 100 percent; and Mr. King completed a somewhat by voting in favor of what he had opposed three weeks earlier, namely, a vote of confidence for the board. It was beautiful harmony except for two flies in the ointment, viz., Councillor Murray and Aurora News Page.

When the Aurora Borealis, Aurora's one-time fighting newspaper, went out of existence through the death of its famed editor and proprietor, the Banner remained as the sole "voice of Aurora". Only it had no voice. Editorially it was dumb. There was "harmony". And so it remained for many long years while Newmarket developed and expanded and Aurora stood still.

Newmarket developed because it had a fighting newspaper, devoted to public interests. Newmarket is a very fine town today, with population of more than 2,000 over that of Aurora. The explanation is that it had a progressive newspaper, controlled by editors who dared to express opinions. While the Banner slumbered in peaceful harmony, the Era and Express inspired the community it served by a succession of able and progressive editors. Hence Newmarket's progress.

The more Aurora News Page is criticized the better we like it. It proves we are doing some useful work, having regard to those who criticize us.

HANDS OUT THE ANSWERS

Murray Flays His Critics And Castigates The Banner

In a quietly-spoken ten minutes' speech at Monday night's meeting of council, Councillor D. J. Murray retraced events at the recent joint session with the arena board, in the course of which he flayed his critics and satirically castigated the Aurora Banner. He was reporting as chairman of the sports and publicity committee.

Mr. Murray said the joint meeting of council and the arena board was described in advance as a "friendly get-together." The Banner had called it a "harmony meeting". But when that paper came out it had a headline which described the other paper (The Era and Express) and himself as having been "castigated."

Dismissing what Mr. F. R. Underhill, chairman of the arena board, had said as "just peanuts," Mr. Murray concentrated his first attack on Mr. A. Cousins' "premeditated speech," which he said was carefully written out. "Not one of you got up to defend me," he said, "and I had to take a beating. But when I rose to defend myself Reeve Cook called my remarks 'childish'."

Answers Reeve Cook

Mr. Murray went on to say how the $5,000 grant had been obtained. "I personally called on Mr. Lashley of the agricultural department and requested the grant on behalf of the town. With me were the provincial member, Mr. MacKenzie and the town foreman, Mr. J. Goulding. In their presence," said Mr. Murray, "Mr. Lashley said he had often wondered why no application for such a grant had ever come from Aurora."

Alleging that Mr. Cook would remove him from the arena board if he could do so Mr. Murray said the reeve had charged that he, Mr. Murray, wanted to set up a one-man board composed of himself. He then disclosed that an arena board meeting was held on the evening of Thanksgiving Day when Messrs Underhill, Cousins, Henderson and Stoddart had written out their resignations and offered them to him.

"That's when I could have become a one-man board," said Mr. Murray. "But it was not for me to accept their resignations." He added that apparently they had changed their minds, for they didn't hand their resignations in the town hall the following day. Much as he might want to do so, Mr. Murray reminded Reeve Cook that he had no power to remove him from the board.

Turning to the reeve Mr. Murray said: "Like others I was new to council. But you gave us no help. For months you sat still and said nothing. It is only lately that you have started to talk."

"Confidence" Vote

Councillor Murray then referred to the vote of confidence that had been given Mr. Underhill and the old members of the arena board, on a motion by Deputy-reeve Murray. He described it as completely out of order, and referred council to procedure regulations.

He said that neither he nor Mr. Tucker were entitled to vote. And since the deputy-reeve had done work on the arena floors he was not entitled to vote as he was in a prejudiced position.

In a withering blast at the Aurora Banner, Mr. Murray said that it had often misrepresented him and had done so again in its last issue when it published a false report that he was the mover of the "confidence vote" to the arena board. In scathing terms Mr. Murray said he would not even ask the Banner to correct its false report but would leave it to "see if it was gentleman enough to do so."

Winding up his remarks Mr. Murray said: "I shall say no more in council about the arena board unless I am forced to do so, for I realize that I am speaking to those who are prejudiced. But I shall have plenty to say at the nomination meeting."

Request Not Publish

Deputy-reeve said he deplored the speech they had listened to and Reeve Cook rose to say he still considered Mr. Murray's remarks were "childish."

Councillor Tucker suggested that the press be asked not to publish Mr. Murray's speech but no one supported the recommendation. Council then went on to other matters.

Tempers flared at the conclusion of the discussion on dog control at the meeting of council on Monday night, when comments made by Col. T. Dann brought forth angry protests from members, with Councillor Ralph Tucker demanding that he be called back and reprimanded for making what were described as "insulting remarks".

At a previous council meeting it was charged that the dog control contract concluded between the municipality of Aurora and the North York Humane society had proved a failure. The contract was entered into when Col. Dann and Mrs. Fielding appeared for the Humane society, stating that an efficient dog control could be effected but that an immediate decision must be made.

A vote of six to three favored the contract being entered into at a meeting of council held on the evening of June 2. Reviewing the situation at the end of September, council expressed the unanimous opinion that the promises made by the sponsors, Col. Dann and Mrs. Fielding, had not been fulfilled and requested that they should come back to council with their explanations for the failure.

Many difficulties

Appearing for the Humane society, accompanied by Col. Dann and Mrs. Fielding, Mrs. Askew pointed out that they were all voluntary workers with the exception of an inspector and his wife. She provided council with a detailed statement of the activities of the society.

Mrs. Askew, who is the president of the North York Humane society, freely admitted that there had been a lot of difficulties to overcome in their first year of working but indicated that these were being overcome and that complete success could two evenings only, with a special matinee for those who are unable to see the picture on either of these two evenings.

This is the first movie showing based on the life of Christ and it will be in color. It is one of the screen's most ambitious and successful productions, and it has a run of one hour and forty-five minutes. It is most appropriate that showings should be given on Armistice Day, November 11.

An immense amount of material has been written on this movie, "The Prince of Peace." It has been acclaimed as one of the greatest triumphs in movie history. The times of starting are 7 and 9 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday evenings, and at 2 p.m. on Tuesday afternoon. It is hardly necessary to recommend movie patrons to see a presentation of such rare quality and meaning as "The Prince of Peace." A movie of such intrinsic meaning is self-recommendatory in these times of stress.

Well-Known In Aurora

Dr. T. H. Hutchinson of Port Arthur, who has received a high honor at the hands of Her Majesty the Queen, is well-known in Aurora. His brother-in-law is Mr. George Walker, Aurora postmaster.

In being appointed as Commander (Brother) Order of St. John, the announcement states: "I have the honor to inform you that Her Majesty the Queen, the Sovereign Head of the Grand Priory in the British Realm, of the Venerable Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, has been graciously pleased to sanction your promotion to Commander (Brother)." Commenting on his promotion, Dr. Hutchinson said: "It is a great honor that Her Majesty has bestowed on this community (Lakehead) in recognition of work the St. John Ambulance Brigade has done through the years. Every day of every month some humanitarian service has been rendered here and in other parts of the Empire."

praised the work of Mr. Corbett, who, with Councillor Vic Jones, has been the backbone of council.

It is a matter for the greatest regret that he is withdrawing his services to the town at this time. His practical good sense and knowledge of affairs have been of immense service to the ratepayers, whose interests he has always carefully guarded. The council table will not look the same with Cliff Corbett absent from it.

However, he tells us that his urgent desire is to see a bit more of his home, to give attention to his badly-neglected garden and to get some easement from the pressure of public duties. These are all very human reasons for his withdrawal from council but whoever could again persuade him to change his present decision would be doing a valuable service to the town. Should that not be possible, we hope Mr. Corbett's withdrawal will be only temporary.

Mr. George Walker expressed his pride in the high honor that a member of his family had received, and said a great many people in Aurora would feel the same about it as he did himself.

Matter For Regret
If Councillor Cliff Corbett sticks by his announced intention, he will not be seeking reelection in this year's municipal contests. He says he has definitely decided to take a rest from council work. That was his intention last year but he yielded to the persuasion of his friends and supporters and ran again, to realize the all-time record of having 963 votes in his favor.

In over three years this column has never found it necessary to question or differ from what Mr. Corbett has done in council. He has been consistent throughout and has never backed down from any stand he has taken. We have repeatedly by the Mayor and several members of council.

On October 6 there was a motion passed at council that a letter be sent to the chairman of the Arena board with instructions that repairs be carried out at the arena. The motion was moved by Councillor King and seconded by Councillor Jones. The repairs needed to be carried out included making the seating safe, council having ordered that the arena be closed until this major job was done.

That was on October 6. The work had not been done on October 27. Since Mr. Underhill claimed that the board had never been criticized by council, the natural presumption in the circumstances is that he didn't trouble to read the letter sent him from the council. If he did he apparently took little stock of it.

All through this year of 1952 the Arena board has been criticized for its failure to put the arena in shape. This failure on the part of the board has taken up hours of discussion in council. And yet Mr. Underhill, and his colleague, Mr. Cousins, had the intestinal bravery to come to the joint meeting and claim that the board had done a good job for the town!

And before the meeting was over they got another vote of confidence from council, less the hands of Councillors Corbett and Murray, which were not raised in approval. The meeting was both farcical and ridiculous.

Chairman in Action

On the evening of October 27 we saw Mr. Underhill in verbal action for the first time in our experience of town affairs. We regret to say that he made a most unfavorable impression on us. Not only because he blasted away at our newspaper, but for other reasons.

We ought to take it as a compliment that Mr. Cousins and Mr. Underhill should have devoted so much of their cerebral content and verbal energy to an attack on our newspaper. They must be satisfied in their own minds that it counts for a good deal, or they wouldn't have given so much time to it.

The business on hand, however, was not a discussion of newspapers but arena affairs. If the board had done its job there would be no reasons for criticisms. There would be reasons only for praise, as in the instance of the recreation commission and other successful town organizations.

Mr. Cousins and Mr. Underhill were just plain nasty about our newspaper. They made charges against it of "leaving everything up" but did not give one single specific piece of evidence to prove their allegations. To prove their assertions they should have been ready with chapter and verse. Instead of producing evidence they merely ranted away in a flow of irresponsible allegations, as though they wanted to get something off their chest. It was poor stuff.

Not In Order

We maintain that Mayor Rose should have called Mr. Cousins to order immediately he heard unspecified charges being made against the press. If Mr. Cousins had been made to stick to the business on hand, which was arena business, the subsequent tirade from Mr. Underhill would have been spared the council.

When the mayor failed to call these gentlemen to order, and allowed them to spout their misrepresentations over the table, he should, as a matter of simple justice, have allowed us, as editor of Aurora News Page, to have had our say. On two occasions we requested that we might be heard. Both requests were turned down. All we wanted to ask was that the gentleman produce the evidence for the allegations they had made. Surely that was reasonable in the circumstances.

If our request had been granted it is possible that the situation could have been clarified to everyone's satisfaction and no need have arisen for this

King City And District

Draws Large Crowd

Every year when the Hallowe'en masquerade party is staged at King City, we say it was better than the last. This is because the costumes are so interesting and there is such public interest displayed by S.S. 2, when every one enters into the full spirit of the celebration. Last Friday night proved the exception as the attendance was larger and the number of pre-school children points to a big increase in enrolment during the next two to three years.

In the pre-school class, Marilyn Rutledge, four, and her brother, Harold, five, were winning first place; David Davis, two, as Hop Along Cassidy was second and Gail Thompson, four, an old fashioned flower girl was third. The judges were Dr. Campbell McKay, Maple, Mrs. Elwood Patton, Toronto, and Mrs. E. B. Johnston.

Although not a prize winner, the unique costume worn by Clair Barrie deserves mention. She represented a tree, the foundation of her costume being a gum sack, over which were little slabs of bark from a tree.

By classes the winners of the show were:

Boys' fancy dress, Jimmie Fox, Soldier, the Spirit of '76; Jimmie Billings, Robin Hood; Fred Thomas, a Priest. Junior boys' comic, Brian Bunn, Cowboy; Douglas Parsons, a Scarecrow; Guthro Dennis, tramp.

Girls' fancy, Paula Jarvis, Flapper; Angela Powell, Robin Hood; Doreen Rutledge and Audrey Chaplain, Gypsy Queens. Girls' comic, Carolyn Parker, Hallowe'en Candy Kid.

Senior girls' comic, Betty Cunningham, Anne Boleyn and June Brown, Henry VIII; Nancy Patton, a lady; Shirley and Stella Thomas, the washing on the line. Senior boys' fancy, Rodney Bell, flapper; Richard Chaplin, flapper; Stewart Davidson and Johnny Walker, man and wife.

Senior boys' comic, Jimmie Simpson, Indian man; Ronnie Fox, Popeye; Don Gordon and Jim Langdon, happy pair.

Teenagers, Suzanne Grew, dupe; Timothy Grew, girl; John Martin, girl friend. Adults, John Robb, The creature; Ewart Patton and Betty Billings, a couple.

Laskay Hallowe'en
At Laskay hall the Women's Institute sponsored a Hallowe'en event, Oct. 31, attended by 115 with over 50 in costumes. Marvin Hunter was chairman and Miss Helen Hunter played for the general sing song and for Mrs. Fred Egan, who was dressed as Aunt Jemima, singing Old Black Joe, Shortening Bread and Steal Away.

Of the 40 children in costumes, 15 were pre-schoolers, with Carol McMurchy as party girl winning the fancy girl and Linda Millard, the comic girl. Brian Egan was fancy boy and Donald Judd, comic winner.

In grades 1 to 4, Lee Coppin won fancy girl; Janet Buddin, comic girl; Russell Arbuckle, fancy boy as a Mounted Policeman; Billie McKay, comic boy.

Grades 5 to 8, fancy girl, Carol Anne Egan, as Miss Harvett; comic girl, Margaret Cairns; fancy boy, Ken Leatherdale, as a decorated wedding cake; comic boy, Danny Buddin.

Adult class, fancy lady, Betty Arbuckle; comic lady, Verna Fuller; most original costume, Mrs. Millard; adult gents, Bob Arbuckle as a bread salesman.

Legion Bingo
The first legion auxiliary bingo held Oct. 29, brought a good profit and was well attended. The prizes were exceptionally interesting and the jackpot for Nov. 12 will be $300. The season has commenced well and special prizes are to feature the approaching pre-Christmas bingo. Mrs. Arthur Fleet, auxiliary president, called the numbers.

Auction Sale
Those who had a flair for antiques found them at the Lewis Gillham auction sale, held at his sixth concession farm, in the Hedges on Nov. 1, rainy weather brought nearly 600 people to find the 82-year-old farmer disposing of fine bovine cattle, grain, modern and old farm implements and antiques which created interest.

The 90-year-old double seated democrat used by George Gillham and his wife to take them to church at King City, was bought for $1 by Jim Finch, 13, and Doug Kerr, 11. Mr. Evan Turnbull paid 25 cents for a pair of ancient cutters. He has no use for them, but thought they ought to be purchased by someone.

An oval shaped oak butter bowl, over 90 years old, brought competitive bidding. It sold for $2 to Mr. Dawkin. Mrs. W. C. Clarke, Toronto, bought the glass fruit set which was 120 years old and handed down to Mrs. Gillham through the Ash family.

Fun At Trip
Mrs. Morris McKinnon, with her daughters, Susan, nearly 10, and Katherine, Louise, four months, had their first air trip last week when they flew from Moncton, N.S. to Malton airport. They are staying with her mother, Mrs. Arthur Wellesley until they locate accommodation nearer the Malton aircraft plant where Morris has been working since early in October. The McKinnons have returned to Ontario after living at Macann, N.S., for 13 months.

They sat together at one of the old double desks used at that time. Much has been said about Mr. Davis' interest in sports but his first coaching in this line was on the Kinghorn school football team and he was one of its most enthusiastic players.

DOG CONTROL

that if it were picked up he would prosecute the Humane society. "Put some teeth into your by-law," said Mrs. Askew, "and we'll take care of the rest."

Taking The Blunt
Councillor D. J. Murray said it seemed to him that council was being made to take the blunt.

The society had undertaken to clean up the dog nuisance in the summer months but the promise made had not been carried out. People in town were very unhappy about the situation and were asking what they were getting for their money.

Asked how many dogs had been picked up in Aurora, Mrs. Askew said that eight or ten had been picked up in the month of June.

Councillor Tucker said he had no intention of belittling the work of the Humane society, for which he had a high regard. But he was not satisfied with the promises made and what had come of them.

Mayor Rose said the trouble appeared to come from their own by-law, which was not strong enough to meet the situation. He suggested that a new by-law be prepared with teeth in it and that it be made operative for a whole twelvemonth. Members of council approved the suggestion and Councillor King, chairman of by-laws, was requested to instruct the solicitor accordingly.

Mrs. Fielding asked Mayor Rose if she might say a few words, and the request being granted said she was sorry if council's expectations had not been fully met. She endorsed Mrs. Askew's remarks in connection with difficulties that had been encountered but assured council that they had all tried to do their best. Plans they were making would bring improvements.

Deputy-reeve Murray said he believed the society had done its best and hoped that the matter might be left there.

Remarks Resented
The discussion had ended on a conciliatory note, with Mayor Rose thanking Mrs. Askew and Mrs. Fielding for their attendance, when Col. Dann intervened with observations that greatly incensed members of council. Saying that "there had been friction over the contract," he added that "friction seemed to be the usual thing with them". He then left the room.

Councillor Tucker immediately rose to his feet with the remark that "he greatly resented what they had just listened to from Col. Dann," adding that he would move a vote of censure and that Col. Dann should be called back to hear it. Councillor D. J. Murray said he would second the motion.

Col. Dann returned at this point, saying that he had heard what was said. Addressing him, Mayor Rose said: "You have done more harm in the last three minutes, Col. Dann, than anything that has happened during the whole meeting." Col. Dann was understood to say that he had nothing to withdraw.

Motion Not Put
Addressing Col. Dann, Councillor Tucker said he took strong exception to his remarks. "You have shown no respect for this council," he said, adding that he resented "such insults".

At this point Col. Dann left the council chamber, with Councillor Clarence Davis saying that he took strong exception to what he had been said. "The last time he was here he described us as 'small town politicians'," said Mr. Davis.

Mayor Rose said if the motion were asked to be put to the council he had no power to refuse the request. He hoped, however, the mover and seconder of the motion might reconsider it.

Deputy-reeve Murray said that "Col. Dann had evidently let his feelings run wild." He hoped council would not be worried too much about it.

Councillor Murray said he was willing to drop the matter if Mr. Tucker was agreeable. Councillor Tucker said he had made his protests. He felt the elected body had been badly insulted but he was agreeable to drop the motion. The incident then passed with council proceeding to other business.

Proper Brakes, Important Item On Inspection

Proper adjustment of brakes is one of the most important items on the pre-delivery inspection of automobiles and service men at the Ford-Monarch and Mercury-Lincoln-Meteor dealers are expert at setting brakes so there will be little chance of accident because of faulty brakes.

But the service people caution that constant attention should be paid to the brakes, particularly to the oft-neglected emergency brake. Anyone who overlooks his emergency, or hand brake, is making a serious mistake for it can, in an emergency, stand between him and disaster for himself and his whole family.

It must always be realized that while the Ford and Monarch hydraulic brake systems are very efficient, they depend on perfect condition of many parts, and a very little grit getting into the system can, in time, cause a complete failure. It usually gives some warning, but all too often this warning is not heeded until the sudden realization that the brakes won't work.

If this situation ever develops on a busy thoroughfare, you're in for trouble, unless you have some means of stopping your car, and that is why every vehicle is provided with an emergency brake. If, through neglect, it too does not work, then you have to be a very alert person to avoid an accident.

The main reason that emergency brakes fail to function is that through wear of the rear brake linings the leverage will no longer apply them with any force. This is often helped forward by thoughtlessly driving at times with the emergency brake partially applied, thus hastening the wear of the rear linings. It can easily be adjusted by tightening up the adjusting nut on the linkage under the car (a different arrangement being used on the 114" from the 118" cars). A "rule of thumb" method of checking the adjustment, is that an average man's pull should bring out the handle 2" to 3" to apply the hand brake fully.

It is just as important, however, to maintain a good hand brake as it is to set it up in the first place, and we suggest the way to do this is to apply it every time you park your car. (Once a year, maybe, this will mean getting your brakes frozen on but this can't cause anything serious).

The easy way to apply the hand brake for parking is to press down on the foot brake pedal and then pull out the hand brake handle the required 2" to 3". You need never worry about driving away with the brake on because if it is set up and applied properly, your car just won't move away with it on—and that is how you will always know your emergency brake is ready for use when that emergency happens.

It is also important to school your thinking towards going for that hand brake within a split second, if your right foot ever goes through to the floor on the brake pedal. Several good drivers we know make a habit of using the hand brake for a stop once in a while just to keep themselves reminded that it is there—and ready to go to work.

MEET HENRY FORD

"I remember the occasion when Henry Ford visited the Middlesex Motors Company in London," says Mr. Birrell. "But it was very seldom that he made a personal call on his dealers."

The new Ford and Monarch service centre and showrooms are in the new Tom Birrell and Sons Ltd. building, above, at the corner of Davis Drive East and Lundy's Lane. The building is said to be one of the largest Ford and Monarch service centres north of Toronto. Spacious grounds and a wooded setting surround the building and there is ample parking space. It is a new landmark in Newmarket's growing north end section. Official opening of the new building takes place next week, Wednesday and Thursday.

A large staff at Tom Birrell and Sons Ltd., offers the best of service in the new headquarters for Ford and Monarch in Newmarket. The Birrell establishment employs the 16 people above, the equivalent of a small industrial firm. Employees include salesmen, mechanics, service attendants, office staff and management.

Tom Birrell With Ford Development Since Early Era Of Model T Car

Tom Birrell was born in 1889, the year young Henry Ford started experiments on internal combustion engines. And like Ford, Tom grew up with cars. His father owned a business in London, Ont., making and repairing wagons and farm sleighs. So it was natural that when he left the London Collegiate Institute he should go into his father's business.

In 1922 he started with Middlesex Motors, London, to gain further experience. About the same time the Ford Motor Co. purchased Lincoln Motors; the Model T had been on the road for 14 years. Here Tom launched out into cabinet making and machine-built two-wheel tractors and speedboats.

His connection with boats first drew Tom's attention to the delights of fishing and it has since become one of his hobbies. Until recently he owned a cottage on Lake Simcoe. "But I'm too busy for that sort of thing now," he says.

His association with Middlesex Motors lasted for 21 years and during that time Tom married and had two boys, Bob and Tom Jr.

The year 1943 was a momentous one. He decided to launch out in business for himself, and accordingly gave up his long associations and friendships in London to come to Newmarket, arriving on Thanksgiving Day. This year, too, was historic in the annals of the Ford Motor Co. It produced the largest volume ever, due to war production, total value of products being $181,000,000, with the highest average employment in history, 15,637 employees. The year before, however, an event occurred that was going to retard Tom's new venture, the last Ford of Canada passenger car for the duration, came off the assembly line.

He chose the site of his present flourishing business in North Main Street, and opened a Ford Dealer Sales and Service Station. Due to the scarcity of new cars, he had to rely mainly on sales of tractors and farm implements and maintenance and repair work to build up his business.

He soon established a reputation for personal service, and with the assistance of his wife as secretary, the business steadily progressed. In 1946 new cars started to make their appearance again, and labor, which had also been very scarce, began to get a little easier.

By 1950 the business had become a limited company, and their eldest son Bob was taking an active part, after five years army service.

WIDE TERRITORY

The new Ford sales and service station, to be opened by Tom Birrell and Sons, Ltd., Davis Dr. E., Newmarket, covers a territory extending from Bond Lake to the central and northern half of York County and includes Aurora, King, Sharon, Queensville, Bethesda, Ballantyne, Lasky, Holland Landing and Ansonville.

The opening of the fine new premises at Davis Dr. E. represents the culmination of a lifetime's experience in the handling of Ford Products. "To be successful in business," says Mr. Birrell, "concentrate on one line of merchandise. I sell and repair Ford cars and tractors and Ford implements and I keep to that."

"But I couldn't get along without the help of my staff. I owe them a great deal and appreciate all they are doing." Mr. Birrell is a member of the Rotary club and the Masonic Lodge and for many years served as an active member of the town council. His wife continues to take an active part in the business and their younger son is being educated at St. Andrew's College.

Queen's Yorks Hold Reunion Night Of Nov. 8

In anticipation of the 200th anniversary of its beginning in 1755, York County's own regiment, The Queen's York Rangers (1st American Regiment) 25th Armoured Regiment will hold on Saturday, Nov. 8, the first of a series of annual Ranger reunion nights at Fort York Armouries. All members and former members of this historic unit, both active and reserve, and of affiliated associations, with their ladies and interested friends, numbering into the thousands, will be welcomed.

It is expected that York County Council, which recognizes the regiment with an annual grant, will be officially represented. This will be an open house event without entrance fee. All messes will be open, an excellent dance band engaged, and a light floor show staged.

History of this York County regiment goes back to the closing years of the British and French struggle for Canada. Formed in 1755 by Lt. Col. Robert Rogers for protection of New England settlements, the following year, as the Queen's Rangers, the unit took part in the capture of Louisbourg. During the American Revolutionary war, the regiment formed part of the loyal British forces and was given the added name 1st American Regiment which it still retains. The York Rangers came into separate existence in the war of 1812, and later turned back the Mackenzie rebels at Montgomery's Tavern in 1837. They furnished troops to quell Fenian raids, to quell the Northwest Rebellion, and fought gloriously in the First Great War.

Amalgamation of the two units was authorized in 1936 and the regiment was created an Armoured unit in 1946. Commanding officer is Lt. Col. J. F. Westhead, M.B.E.

Hon. Lt. Col. W. J. Stewart, O.B.E., M.P.P., is chairman and Capt. Wm. Hunt, secretary of the joint Ranger re-union committee.

SUCCESS IN BUSINESS

"Give a fair deal to all," says Tom Birrell. "To be successful in business," he says, "remember two things: keep to one line of merchandise, and give a fair and honest deal to the customer and take a fair profit for the business."

"An unfair deal can only result in one of two things; if the customer is overcharged, the dealer will eventually go out of business. If the dealer makes too little profit he will still go out of business."

Large New Establishment Boost To Northend Growth

Next Wednesday, November 12, marks the official opening of the new Tom Birrell and Sons Ltd. Ford and Monarch showrooms and service centre in Newmarket.

The new building is located on the north side of Davis Drive at the corner of Lundy's Lane. It is a handsome new asset to Newmarket and is added proof that there is a bright business future for the north end of Newmarket.

The public has been invited to visit the new building next Wednesday and Thursday nights. On Wednesday night there will be movies shown by the Ford Motor Co. officials and Thursday night Birrells are staging a dance with old time and modern music by Charlie VanZant and his orchestra on the new floor. Everyone is welcome.

The new building offers ample space for a large showroom, stockroom and offices. There is a separate room containing the most modern equipment for lubrication and wheel alignment. Hydraulic hoists are installed for raising trucks and cars for utmost convenience and better and easier maintenance.

The building is situated in a beautiful setting of trees and woodland and there is available land for further expansion. Prosperous customers can inspect, at their leisure, the latest Ford models of cars and trucks and a new line of English made tractors with both gasoline and diesel engines and implements, all made at the Ford Dagenham plant, England.

The policy of Tom Birrell and Sons Ltd., according to its president, Tom Birrell, will be to concentrate, as in the past, exclusively on the servicing and sales of Ford parts, cars and trucks, farm machinery and tractors.

Several new businesses have been started up on Davis Dr. recently and their presence shows the prospect of a good future for the street. In the last few years, development of the street from Yonge St. on the west to the third concession on the east, has included a new restaurant and service station, Bell's Corner; two large implement agencies, Constable and Magee and Ward and Allan; a soft drinks warehouse; a used car lot, McDougalls' and new housing development at the east of the street.

Improvements to No. 11 highway and the corner of Davis Drive and the highway also will mean increased traffic in the north section of town. The establishment of the new service centre and Ford showrooms shows that Birrells have faith in Davis Drive as a business street.

Opening Next Wed., Thurs.

To celebrate the opening of his new service station on Davis Dr. E., Mr. Birrell is inviting the public to attend for an evening's entertainment on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 12 and 13, at the new premises. On Wednesday a program of movies will be shown, including educational pictures, by representatives of the Ford Motor Co., from 8.30 to 10 p.m. On Thursday there will be old time and modern dancing to Charlie VanZant and his orchestra, from 8.30 to 12 midnight. Admission is free both evenings and everyone is welcome. Children under 18 must be accompanied by their parents. Ample parking space is provided.

Ford and Monarch cars top the list in the products Tom Birrell and Sons Ltd., Newmarket, has to offer the public. Although car sales represent the greatest volume, other Ford products including British American built tractors, implements, and English cars by Ford are sold by Birrells. Above is the 1952 Ford Tudor sedan.

The Ford Ranch Wagon is a versatile automobile sold by Birrells, useful for both town and country. It is an excellent car for hunting, summer holidays or taking all the family for a drive or for use on the farm.

tribute to many accidents. All tires should be equally inflated to the recommended pressure as a soft tire on one side will cause a car to wander in one direction and make it hard to steer, thus causing extra wear on the tire. If a car wanders or is difficult to steer, tires, wheel alignment and brake adjustment should be checked. Wavy ridges or uneven wear on the tires may mean improper adjustment or alignment which should be corrected immediately. If there is too much play in the steering mechanism (if the steering wheel rim can be turned more than two inches without turning the wheels) the mechanism should be checked. "Shimmy" may be caused by worn parts, wheels which are out of balance or unevenly inflated tires. Since an accident resulting from improperly maintained equipment may cost many times the price of minor repairs, it is a good rule to have cars thoroughly inspected at least twice a year.

Regular Inspection Of Your Car Means Safety Insurance

Every car owner should ensure that his vehicle is inspected regularly and systematically, according to Harry H. Cook, assistant service manager at Ford Motor Company of Canada, Windsor.

"Some drivers who are skilled mechanics can do the work themselves," he says, "but most will prefer to leave their cars with their Ford-Monarch or Mercury-Lincoln-Meteor dealer for a prompt and efficient check-up, confident in the knowledge that everything that should be done will be done and done well."

"A small amount paid for repairs is really safety insurance and may save many dollars in maintenance or accident costs."

Among essential points to be given regular attention are the brakes. After a considerable amount of driving the brakes become worn and the linings must be replaced. Oil or grease may leak into the brakes and make them slip. Or water may get into them from driving in wet weather and they won't hold properly. Even dirt from dusty roads may work in and make them drag.

Proper stopping requires proper adjustment between brakes on front and rear, and right and left wheels, Mr. Cook warns. Unless all brakes are evenly adjusted, sudden application will lock the more tightly adjusted brake and cause the car to swerve.

Brake adjustment can be checked easily by noticing if the car swerves if you hold the steering wheel lightly when you apply the brakes suddenly on a level, hard-surfaced road. But such a test should only be made at low speed and on a road with no other vehicle in sight.

It is important to make sure that there is plenty of fluid in the hydraulic brake system at all times. If the brake pedal goes down too far, the fluid should be checked immediately as there may be a leak in the system. Or if the pedal has to be pumped up and down to make the brakes effective, the system should be checked for defects.

There should also be regular care given the tires on a car. Smooth and worn tires con-

CURLERS' RESPONSE GOOD

Newmarket is likely to have six or perhaps seven rinks going against the best Bradford and district curlers have to offer this winter in the Bradford Curling club bonspiels. Twenty curlers or would-be curlers turned out for the Tuesday meeting to organize Newmarket rinks for competition. The curlers will gather again next Tuesday in the town hall basement at 8 p.m. to set up the various rinks. The door is still open for you to join.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS COMPETE AT GUELPH

Teams from the Markham Calf club, Woodbridge Calf club and York Baby Beef club took part in the recent Provincial Inter-Club competitions at Guelph. The dairy competition was the largest of the day with 68 competing teams. The Markham team, represented by Donald Brodie and George Hooper, Gormley, was 17th and the Woodbridge team, consisting of Bruce Fieldhouse and Jack Cooper, Woodbridge, was 19th.

The Baby Beef team, consisting of Margaret Arkinstall, Newmarket, R. R. 2, and Isabel Hood, Gormley, R. R. 2, had a score of 920 out of a possible 1040 and stood fourth. This team was only 12 points behind the winning team in a competition of 34 teams.

Following the competition, the 700 team members and their coaches were guests of the Ontario Agricultural College at a banquet in Creelman Hall, at which the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, C. D. Graham, was guest speaker.

DROPS FROM HIGH SCHOOL DISTRICT

The Newmarket-Sutton High school district board voted at its October 13th meeting to approve a request for withdrawal from the area by one school section. Union school section 5, Georgina and Scott had petitioned York County council to withdraw from the Newmarket-Sutton area and to be made part of (Uxbridge) Ontario Central district. Council referred the matter to the board.

Reasons given for the withdrawal were that children from that school section had been in the habit of attending school in Uxbridge and that a geographical barrier, a strip of swamp land, separated them from Sutton. This complicated the transportation difficulties of providing bus service to Georgina and Scott.

The board decided that in view of the geographical situation of Union school section 5 it had no objection to the request being granted.

The annexation will probably take place the end of the calendar year through York County council.

A PIONEER SETTLEMENT

Eversley Dates To Early 19th Century

Eversley is at the intersection of the third concession line of King township, two and a half miles north of the King and Vaughan townline. It is the centre of a fine agricultural district, dotted with lakes and bathed in the warmth of sunlit fields.

It slopes to the south of the Humber River and to the ridges of King on the north. The name Eversley is believed to have been taken from a small village in England, where Charles Kingsley, author of Westward Ho, was curate. In her descriptive story of the history of Eversley, Miss Alice Ferguson, 83, born in that community, and an ex-school teacher, took members of King City W. I. up and down the third concession, when she presented a graphic word picture of the early settlers, the industries, church and school. Her research work will be recorded in the Institute Tweedsmuir History Book.

The beginning of Eversley was a store on the northeast corner of the sideroad where Mr. James Tinline was storekeeper and an early school teacher. On the southwest corner was a blacksmith and on the northwest corner stood a wheelwright shop. It is difficult to picture so much stir and activity in the community which has comparative quiet today. The school and the church are centres of interest but small industry has gone. The social gathering at Eaton Hall and the scene of hunting horses with their riders and dogs at Eaton Hall Farm, give a different picture than the popular July 1st picnics that the countryside enjoyed in the horse and buggy days, in a woods on the southwest corner of Eversley sideroad. The young people would dance there all night on the wooden platform.

Many of the fine old farm dwellings made of home-burnt brick still stand, improved by landscaped surroundings. The mill pond on the Dinick farm, harks back to a thriving industry when the farmers brought logs to be cut by the "up-to-day" and down tomorrow" saw that was operated as the water from the millrace turned over the big wheel. The pond was dammed by the Ferguson family, and served the countryside for miles around.

Ferguson's pond, not Lady Eaton's Lake, was a favorite fishing spot on the 24th of May. Eversley cheese factory, built by Job Wells, was famous for its product and was used for dances in the wintertime.

The tavern at Raffarty's Corners, (Dr. J. T. Phair's place now) at King sideroad and the third concession, has long since disappeared as has the old blacksmith shop at the corner (Harry McBride's place).

St. Andrew's Presbyterian church still stands, taken off James Wells' farm, a memorial to the God-fearing pioneers who built their church and school before they aspired to better homes and farm buildings. The old hewn log building was both church and school until the stone church was built in 1848. Rev. John Tawse was the preacher from 1837 until 1877. He was also the first school teacher and guided many a young man into fields of higher learning. The new and present school house has served

Wide Range Of Implements Offered To Farm Population

A wide range of Dearborn farm implements, and the popular Ford and Fordson Major tractors, are available to the farming population through Ford-Monarch dealers across Canada. The Ford tractor makes for greater simplicity in the use of implements and gives high quality and long service.

It is designed to operate at full efficiency with the specially engineered line of Dearborn implements, which include four types of plows, cultivators, subsoilers, middlebushers, and three types of disk harrow, as well as bush and bog and spring-tooth harrows.

Dearborn planters and grain drills, row crop cultivators, weedeaters, rotary hoes, mowers and rakes are all designed to work with the Ford tractor for the benefit of the farmer.

Companion line to the Ford tractor and Dearborn implement line are the big Fordson Major tractors for farm and industrial use. Available with the Fordson Major gasoline engine or the Perkins P. 6 Diesel engine these tractors are also specially designed for Fordson implements. Economical farming operations are ensured with the use of such implements as Fordson plows, cultivators, hoes, mowers, beet lifters and potato diggers, pulled behind the sturdy

Gas Sometimes To Blame

In the old days when a car didn't perform properly it was the custom to suspect the gasoline before delving into matters of ignition, valving and carburetion. With the improvement in refining methods the picture has changed to a point where nowadays we are apt to forget all about gasoline.

Major tractor.

No soil conditions are too tough for this British-built tractor that is winning new friends in Canada and other countries every day.

"CENTRE FILL" Tanks

"Centre Fill" a new exclusive feature on all Ford, Monarch, Mercury and Meteor passenger cars for 1932, is good news to the men who man the gasoline pumps in Canadian garages and service stations.

The gasoline tank filler pipe on the new models is located in dead centre at the rear of the car, where it can be reached from either side with equal ease.

There's no more stretching of hose lines, and so no more risk of marking the car body while serving the customer.

If some gas spills over it goes direct to the pavement, not over a whole fender panel, thus eliminating a common cause of customer annoyance and station attendant embarrassment.

And tests show a substantial time saving both for the customer and the operator.

Up front in the new models, ease-of-service is also increased. Battery, oil filler pipe and other engine fixtures are conveniently located "top-side" for quick accessibility.

The New Fordson Major 3-4 Plow Tractor

An entirely new Fordson Major has just been introduced into Canada. Made in England and especially designed for Canadian farming, the New Fordson Major embodies all the latest in tractor development. Features include new advanced styling, two new overhead valve engines, gasoline and diesel, six forward and two reverse speeds, a new hydraulic system, low overall height, new operating ease and driver comfort.

STEALING HUB CAPS

While psychologists have done considerable investigating of the mind behind the type of person who will steal an automobile, they haven't done much research into what makes a man steal the hub caps from an automobile.

However, the answer to this is quite simple, according to Gordon W. Withell, manager, financial department, overseas operations division at Ford of Canada.

Recently returned to Windsor from Singapore, where he spent four years with Ford-Malaya, Mr. Withell reported that on a visit to Djakarta, Indonesia, he found hub caps chained to the hubs of cars as the natives have a habit of stealing them; hub caps make excellent rice bowls!

HOPE U.S. TO LIFT EMBARGO SOON

Canadian cattle men are hopeful that the U.S. embargo against Canadian livestock, imposed at the outbreak of the hoof-and-mouth disease in the prairies, will soon be lifted. Their hopes are based on the relatively high bidding by U.S. cattle men at Canadian livestock shows. At the sale at the Coliseum in Toronto, 19 out of 68 head sold went to U.S. buyers, which boosted the average price to the satisfaction of Canadian cattle raisers. This bull, Romandale Re-echo Reflection, held by Judy Smith of Brownsville, Ont., brought top price, $5,100, at the auction.

FASHION SHOW

Keynote Durability And Style At Merchants' Fashion Show

Durability with style appeared to be the keynote of the showing of fall and winter fashions presented by nine local merchants in the Newmarket town hall on Wednesday last week. There was something for each member of the family. Even the interior of the house received its share of attention.

There were suits, play clothes and winter togs for the small fry designed to combine rugged wearing qualities with eye appeal. There were dresses guaranteed to perform a Cinderella transformation for their lucky little owners. There were work-day clothes for mother and big sister as well as elegant party wear.

Dad and older brother were shown what the well-dressed hunter will wear north this fall. Casual and dressy wear for that desired Beau Brummell appearance were modelled for the male members of the family.

For those relaxing evenings at home, the latest lounging and TV apparel was shown. From there it was just a short step to the interior decorating of the house from front to back door. All this with door prizes added up to an interesting evening.

Gone are the days when a shopper has to choose between elegance and practicality. Nylon blouses, filmy wisps of pastel colors are washable and need little ironing. Skirts are permanently pleated. Party dresses in orlon can be laundered at home. They require no ironing, just wash and hang up to dry. One shorty housecoat in grey with tiny, all-over yellow floral design was guaranteed against wear for four years.

Plaids and More Plaids

From the number of plaids on display at the show there must be a tremendous increase in the immigration of Scots to these shores. There were plaids for every member of the family. Short all-round pleated skirts in authentic tartans with matching boxy jackets or sleeveless waists looked adorable on the small models. One such outfit worn by Elizabeth Wunch included a Campbell tartan skirt, green velvet waist and yellow, nylon seersucker blouse.

Janet Macnab modelled plaid slacks with a cunning turtle-necked, striped T-shirt. Vic Elginson sported a plaid lined jacket and a plaid sport shirt during the evening. Anna Shed-lowich, after briefly hiding her face when confronted with the large audience, bounced down the runway in the briefest of med with veil.

The Men In Your House

The men in your house, whether they are pre-schoolers, clothes-conscious teenagers or dad who is unreasonably attached to his old tweed jacket, would have found something to their liking at the fashion show last week. Neil Dunstan appeared quite satisfied with his choice of a brown jodhpur and jacket ensemble with matching snap brim hat in corduroy.

The popular single breasted, two-button style with notched lapel in a dressy navy blue was modelled as was an English worsted three-button double breasted style in the made-to-measure lines. Doug McNern showed a young man's coat with matching grey Biltmore hat. Bob Rowland, after some coaxing by the commentator, consented to appear in his smart station wagon coat with mouton collar and beige leggings and helmet.

Dependable Materials

Corduroy and jersey have been favorites for the past few seasons of the high school and college crowds. Business girls and older women who demand style and warmth in their winter daytime fashions quickly adopted these fabrics. Sports wear for men featured the corduroy, a long established favorite in children's wear.

Corduroy appeared in an attractive, tailored lime housecoat and in a scarlet skating outfit with the full, pert skirt lined with the inevitable plaid. Jersey in neutral shades, the perfect foil for exciting costume jewelry was seen in several tailored dresses.

Waistline, Where Are You?

The wandering waistline was in evidence. It appeared most frequently in its normal place.

Reminiscent of the gay twenties was the middy-look. For the school girl this style in navy with pleated skirt was accented by a row of tartan diamonds across the lower bodice. In many instances the middy-look was achieved with a fitted torso which continued smooth over the hips. It ended with horizontal stitching to give the illusion of a two-piece dress.

The Empire style, extremely high waisted, was seen in an ankle-length strapless net over taffeta in line. Row on row of satin ribbon called attention to the molded bodice. With this short evening dress was worn a net stole.

It's Cold Outside

Coats were wonderfully practical. Close fitting collars which frequently stood up behind, guaranteed against drafts. Easy fullness which was controlled to prevent bulkiness was seen in most models. Velvet again appeared. It peaked out from under cuff and collar. On one striking ensemble there was a crimson ascot scarf. Detachable, its addition with an oversize lapel pin made an otherwise tailored coat very dressy.

Snow suits for small types featured water-repellent materials in bright colors. Little girl fashions were styled with attention to detail. One green velvet three-piece outfit was trimmed with grey fur. Another had the fur trim in a cape effect on a paddy green coat set. A bouncy grey pom-pom topped the roll brim matching hat which was complete with ear flaps and chin strap. The coat was double breasted.

Coiffures

With the exception of one model, Shirley Vance, whose pony tail hair styling drew approving glances from the audience, the trend appeared to be for short, softly controlled styles. Rosemary John's sculptured cut with curls at side was very attractive. For the junior miss, bangs with beribboned pig-tails or soft, short curls proved most popular.
